VICTORIA THEATRE.
Stage Manager .... Mr. B. N. Jones

SECOND WEEK
of
THE EMINENT TRAGEDIENNE,
MRS. MARY GLADSTANE

SATURDAY, May 26th, will be produced, for the first time in Australia, a drama in 4 acts, founded on Charles Dickens' great novel, "Dombey and Son," and written by Andrew Halliday, Esq., expressly for Mrs. Gladstane, entitled HEART'S DELIGHT,
first produced at the Globe Theatre, London, and performed for upwards of 100 nights, with immense success.
New Scenery, by .... Mr. Alfred Clint
Mechanical Effects, by .... Mr. John Renno and Sons
Properties, by .... Mr. E. Vinson
Music selected and arranged, by .... Professor Hughes.
The whole produced under the direction of Mr. B. N. JONES,
with the following powerful cast of characters:—
Mr. Dombey—"He believed that the earth was made for Dombey and Son to trade in, and the sun and moon to give them light." .... Mr. H. S. Jerdan
Mr. Carker (Dombey's managing clerk)—"A gentleman of florid complexion, with two unbroken rows of glistening teeth; he showed them whenever he spoke, and bore so wide a smile upon his countenance, that there was something in it like the snarl of a cat." Mr. R. Fulford
Captain Ed'ard Cuttle—"'Mariner of England'—a timber-built looking salt—suit of oak as well as heart! 'When found, make a note on.'" .. Mr. B. N. Jones
Mr. Toots—"If you could see my legs when I take my boots off, you'd form some idea of what unrequited affection is." .... Mr. Bland Holt
Old Sol Gills—"If there's a man as understands science, it's him" .... Mr. W. H. Seagrave
Walter Gay—"A fresh lad that nothing could tire or put out, and sparkled and blushed so when we joked him about 'Heart's Delight.'" .... Mr. E. Mowry
Mr. Brogley—"A moist-eyed, pink-complexioned, crisp-haired man, of bulky figure and easy temper." Mr. J. Tolano
Jack Bunsby—"My name's Jack Bunsby, and what I says I sticks to" .... Mr. L. Booth
Rob the Grinder—"A round red face, round sleek head, round black eyes, round limbs, and round body" Mr. E. Ryan Servant .... Mr. Kingston
Waiter .... Mr. Edwards
EDITH (the second wife of Mr. Dombey)—"A handsome statue—as cold, as silent, and as still: she believed she had no resource, or power of self-assertion, but in pride; and with this pride she fought her fate out, braved it, and defied it". Mrs. MARY GLADSTANE Florence Dombey ("Heart's Delight"—"An innocent girl, strong only in her earnestness and simple truth." .... Miss Annie Pixley Susan Nipper—"Susan Nipper is her name, and she's a nipper by nature .... Miss Lina Edwin.

IN THE INSOLVENT ESTATE OF LOVE MOFFAT, STANTHORPE.

SMELTING WORKS FOR SALE BY TENDER.

This valuable property is situated in the heart of the tin country, and consists of the lease of 20 acres of land at Tenthill, N.S.W., which has an unexpired term of 7½ years to run, viz., 2½ years at one shilling per acre per annum, and 5 years at twenty shillings per acre per annum.
The plant consists of large back shed, comprising 2 furnaces and refining pot, and another shed containing charcoal crusher and gear complete; there is also a kiln for the purpose of making charcoal, blacksmith's shop, stabling, and two horses and dray; in fact the plant is complete and sufficient to smelt from 20 to 30 tons of ore per week.
The works are on the main Grafton and Warwick Road, are fenced with a paling fence, and within four miles of the well-known Vegetable Creek Mines; and being the only ones at work on any of the tin fields, there is sufficient ore obtainable to increase them to three or four furnaces, if in the hands of an active and enterprising man.
There is supposed to be a valuable lode, known as M'Master's, in the close vicinity; also several deep tanks supplying sufficient water. By smelting on the spot a saving of 40s. to 50s. per ton may be effected above the rates obtainable in Brisbane.
Tenders to be addressed to the Trustees, by June 7, 1877.
The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.
For further particulars apply to the Trustee,
GEORGE CANNON, Queen-street, Brisbane.

SYDNEY INFIRMARY.—TENDERS are invited for the supply of PURE MILK, at per quart, from 1st July to 31st December, to be sent in not later than 10 a.m. on MONDAY, 11th June.
Applicants will be required to name, for approval of the Committee, two sureties willing to enter into a bond in the sum of £50 for the due performance of the contract.
H. D. RUSSELL, Secretary.

TENDERS.—TENDERS required for the Erection of an Anglican Church at Wilcannia, Darling River, New South Wales.
Specifications and views of plans to be seen at the office of WILSON and RANKEN, 227, George-street, Sydney.

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, MAY 25.

THE SPEAKER took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 4 o'clock.

QUESTIONS.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. M'Elhone, said the Redmire railway platform would be open in a few days.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Macintosh, said the proposed wharf at Circular Quay was under consideration, but a decision had not been arrived at as to the material.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Lucas, said Mr. Surveyor Mann had reported on the road and Beach-street, Coogee Bay. The hon. gentleman also laid Mr. Mann's report on the table of the House.

Mr. DRIVER, in reply to Mr. Lucas, said the selections of Robert Armstrong were disallowed as being within the Oberon Gold-Field reserve, proclaimed in August 12, 1872.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Lucas, said that plans had been prepared for the proposed improvements at Circular Quay, and tenders received for carrying out the work with iron and with wood. When specifications for stone were completed, plans, specifications, and tenders received would be laid before Parliament.

Mr. DRIVER in reply to Mr. Hurley (H.), said blocks x558, x559, x560, and x561, county of Cook, were surveyed about November 24, 1874.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Day, said the amount paid on the main Southern Road, between Upper Tarcutta and the Albury municipal boundary (80 miles), since May, 1867, was £31,039; work in progress, £6000. For that road £50 a mile was voted from 1867 to 1874 inclusive; since then £75 a mile had been voted, but the amount was only expended where it was most required.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Hurley (H.), said the papers in connection with spending money on the Swashfield Road, Mary Vale, and Ginkin and Boggy Flat Roads were with the local officer. Whether the money would be spent could not be determined until the papers were received. They had been telegraphed for.

Mr. DRIVER, in reply to Mr. M'Elhone, said the question of Messrs. Lonsdale and other lessees of runs sinking tanks on the Deniliquin Railway Reserve had been referred to an officer of the Lands Department; when his report was received the matter would be dealt with.

Mr. PIDDINGTON, in reply to Mr. Macintosh, said that the import duty on dressed timber was 2s., and on undressed 1s. per 100 feet. The Earl Dalhousie, it was estimated, landed 5000 feet dressed, on which £5 was paid; there was no reason for returning the money.

Mr. F. B. SUTTOR in reply to Mr. Hurley (H.), said the Council had decided to establish a Public school at Holdsworthy. Tenders had been procured twice, but none were accepted. Seventy children promised to attend the school, which was first asked for on June 15, 1876. Delay occurred through the tenders being too high.

Mr. HOSKINS in reply to Mr. Macintosh, said that plans for a Court and watch house at Redfern, had been approved, and the funds for them placed on the estimates. It was not intended to alter the original site.

Mr. HOSKINS, in reply to Mr. Baker, said no survey had been made between Blayney and Murrumburrah, with the view to connect the Southern and Western Railway. The Government did not propose to ask Parliament to sanction the line at present.

Mr. PARKES, in reply to Mr. T. G. Dangar, said he thought about 5000 grants were waiting for the signature of the Governor. They accumulated pending new arrangements for certifying their correctness to the satisfaction of his Excellency. Those arrangements being completed, they would pass rapidly under signature.

Mr. PARKES, in reply to Mr. Wisdom, said that Mr Clark, the hydraulic engineer, would visit the Hunter River district, but the visit would be of short duration. He could not say what would be done until Mr. Clark returned and he had had an opportunity of consulting him.

Mr. PARKES, in reply to Mr. M'Elhone, said the practice of giving Civil servants holidays on nomination and polling days had existed since 1851, or about twenty-five years. The Government had not considered the matter, but it seemed to him a practice that might well be dispensed with.

Mr. PARKES, in reply to Mr. Hurley (H.), said the band performed in the Gardens at the request of the Commandant. In 1876 they played twelve times, and in 1877 four times. Their non-performances were caused by the weather.

DUTY ON GOLD ABOLITION BILL.

On the motion of Mr. BAKER, this bill was read a third time, passed, and ordered for transmission to the Legislative Council.

RETURNS.

Mr. LONG (for Mr. J. S. Smith) moved,—"That there be laid upon the table of this House, copies of all correspondence between the Secretary for Public Works and the Engineer-in-Chief for Railways, and between that officer and Messrs. Wade and Cowdery, railway surveyors, and other persons, as to the survey of the projected line of railway from Orange to Wellington via Molong, together with all maps, plans, &c., of said line in possession of the Department of Public Works."

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. LONG (for Mr. J. S. Smith) moved,—"That there be laid upon the table of this House, a copy of the petition from certain residents of Sally's Flat and Monkey Hill, Wellington electorate, to the Minister for Lands, against the sale of certain Crown lands in those localities, together with the signatures to such petition, and any correspondence with reference to the subject matter of the petition."

The motion was agreed to.

SYDNEY COMMON IMPROVEMENT ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. MACINTOSH moved that this bill be read a second time. The object of it was to enable the Corporation of Sydney to borrow £20,000 to liquidate an overdraft at the Union Bank, for which they are now paying interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum. The Corporation believed that they could borrow this money on debentures at 5 or 5½ per cent., which would lessen their expenses in connection with this common by some £200 or £300 a year. The security they offered was 1200 feet frontage on the north side of Moore Park Road, not at all connected with Moore Park proper, and a large area of land on the west of the Victoria Barracks, valued at from £30,000 to £50,000. The Sydney Common was indebted to the amount of about £30,000, £20,000 of which was an overdraft, and £10,000 in the shape of debentures. The whole of the £20,000 raised would, therefore, go towards liquidating the overdraft. The debt had been caused by the improvements made on the park, which through that expenditure had become a popular place of resort for the citizens.

The motion was agreed to, the bill was read a second time, and the House went into committee to consider it in detail

The preamble was postponed.

Clause 1 was proposed, as follows:—"It shall be lawful for the mayor, aldermen, and citizens of the city of Sydney to borrow by the sale of debentures chargeable upon that portion of the Sydney Common not authorised to be sold at a rate not exceeding five pounds per centum per annum further sums not exceeding twenty thousand pounds, to liquidate a bank overdraft."

Mr. LUCAS called attention to the words in this clause —"chargeable upon that portion of the Sydney Common not authorised to be sold." This was in effect mortgaging the whole of the Sydney Common, and it might all be sold to pay off these debentures. Something ought to be inserted in the bill to indicate what portion of the Common it was intended to make liable for the debt.

Mr. MACINTOSH intimated his willingness to postpone the further consideration of the bill, and he accordingly moved that the Chairman leave the chair and ask leave to sit again.

Mr. DAVIES agreed that it was necessary to postpone the further consideration of the bill to have the omission which had been pointed out rectified.

The CHAIRMAN then left the chair, reported progress, and obtained leave to sit again on Friday next.

RAILWAY FROM WALLERAWANG TO MUDGEE.

Order of the day for the consideration in Committee of the Whole of the following resolutions:—"1. That, in the opinion of this House, the importance of the town and district of Mudgee in point of wealth and population demands the construction of a railway from Wallerawang to Mudgee without delay. 2. That the Government should therefore proceed at once with all reasonable energy in the construction of this work, and that a plan of the line and book of reference be prepared and laid upon the tables of both Houses of Parliament this session. 3. That the above resolutions be communicated by address to his Excellency the Governor."

Mr. ROUSE said he was willing to postpone these resolutions if he could get the assurance of the Minister for Works that there would be no delay in prosecuting the work, so that plans and books of reference might be laid before Parliament as soon as possible. He moved the postponement of the order of the day till this day four weeks.

Mr. M'ELHONE said these resolutions had been long enough before the House, and he thought they ought to be disposed of at once.

Mr. HOSKINS said it was impossible for him to state definitely what course the Government intended to take until the Engineer-in-Chief had submitted a report for the consideration of the Government as to the most desirable route to take. Two routes had been surveyed for this line, when a deviation was suggested, which, it was alleged, would reduce the cost of constructing the line, but it was found to be of no value. At the present time the trial surveys were being worked out in the office of the Engineer for Railways. They were also preparing tenders for the Western and Northern extensions. Hence the department had not been able to give proper attention to the working out of these trial surveys so as to ascertain which would be the best route to adopt from Wallerawang to Mudgee, and consequently the Engineer-in-Chief had not been able to make an estimate of the cost. Under the circumstances the Government were only reasonable in asking that the matter should be postponed until they had the Engineer's report, when they would be able to submit a definite proposal to the House.

Mr. BAKER asked if the Minister for Works would say definitely whether the Government were in favour of the construction of this line.

Mr. HOSKINS said he had already stated that when the Government were furnished with a report of the cost and other matters in connection with the matter they would take a decided course.

Mr. LACKEY thought the Government were in as good a position now to give the hon. member an answer as they would be a month hence. The House had already been furnished with an approximate estimate of the cost, which he believed would be £680,000. It was a question for the Minister to say yes or no, whether they were in favour of the line or not. He thought the Government were only keeping the hon. member for Mudgee on, and avoiding the responsibility of giving a direct answer as to the course they intend to adopt. The hon. member might be content, but he doubted if his constituents would be content.

Mr. PILCHER said the hon. member in charge of the matter wished it postponed for a month, and the department concerned also wished it postponed for a month; and he thought very valid reasons had been given for the postponement. The hon. member would be in a much better position to go on with the matter when he had the report of the Engineer-in-Chief. Surely it was very important that they should have the best possible information upon the matter, and it would be only fair to postpone the question until that information was before the House.

Mr. CAMERON said if this question were postponed for a month in all probability it would be shelved altogether for the session. The Minister for Works was not likely to hurry this report, for he had decidedly opposed the line before he went into office.

Mr. HURLEY (Hartley) said that similar reasons for postponement to those now urged were used by the hon. member Mr. Lackey when he filled the position of Minister for Works. He considered these reasons so good that he had refrained from presenting a petition on the subject.

Mr. H. C. DANGAR thought the opposition to the postponement unreasonable; if the hon. member went on with his motion that night, he would excite the very opposition he sought to avoid, simply because the House had not got this information before them. All that the hon. member wished the Government to commit themselves to, was that a preliminary survey should be proceeded with. He hoped the postponement would be agreed to.

Mr. JACOB had understood the hon. member for Mudgee to say he would postpone the matter for a month if the Minister for Works would give him an assurance that the Government would go on with the line; but the Minister for Works did not seem to understand him. If the hon. member was desirous that this work should be proceeded with, he should go on with his motion.

Mr. BUCHANAN thought this a very important matter, and was sorry that a postponement was necessary. Nothing ought to stand in the way of getting this work speedily completed. He thought they ought to have the report of the Engineer-in-Chief, which would go far to decide the Government to go on with the work at once. He would, however, suggest that a postponement for a fortnight would be better.

Mr. GARRETT said that the Government had practically abnegated their functions in deferring their decision upon a question of policy to the opinion of the Engineer-in-Chief. If the Government could succeed in closing Parliament within a month, and we knew that that was their intention, the hon. member's motion would be shelved until next session, which would not begin before the end of the year, so that the whole thing would be relegated to an entirely new Parliament. There was sufficient evidence in the records of the House to guide any hon. member in coming to a conclusion on the question of policy.

Mr. BAKER said that sufficient reason had not been given for the postponement. The opinion of the House could be, and ought to be, conclusively taken on this subject to-night, and it was mere evasion on the part of the Government to seek to defer dealing with the matter.

Mr. LUCAS did not see why we should not postpone the resolutions if the hon. member for Mudgee desired it. When a trial survey was made, that was to some extent an indication of the policy of the Government that it was desirable such a line should be made; but no Government ever determined to construct a line until they had sufficient data to enable them to say approximately what it would cost. Mr. Whitton had estimated that this line would probably cost £680,000, and the late Government put that sum upon the estimate. The hon. member and the Government were entitled to have the additional information sought before asking the House to give a vote upon the question.

Mr. COHEN said that the two resolutions were substantially the same, both being directed to the construction of the line without delay. It was a mere party move to twit the Government with a desire to get rid of the motion by postponement. The House was entitled to have the fullest information before they pledged themselves to this work. This was not simply a question of policy, but the resolutions would commit hon. members to decisive and immediate action. Without the information he should be obliged to vote against them.

Mr. DAY said he was of opinion that good reasons had been offered for postponing the resolutions by the mover and the Government, and he could not understand why hon. members objected to them, and especially the late Government, who never evinced great eagerness to go on with railways. (Hear, hear.) [Mr. GARRETT: They placed the money on the Estimates.] They wanted to catch votes. The country through which it was proposed this railway should be taken was nearly all mountains, and it behoved the Government and the mover of the resolution to have proper statistics regarding the construction of the line. If the motion went to a division at the present time he thought it might be lost.

Mr. DAVIES said the matter had been before the House for some twelve months, and surely there had been sufficient time to have the surveys of the line made, and to allow the Government leisure to base their opinion as to whether it ought to proceed or not. The people of Mudgee wanted the line, and the late Government placed money on the Estimates and authorised the surveys for it. If the surveys were not completed they ought to be by that time, to enable the Government to arrive at some decision on the matter. The Engineer-in-Chief, he thought, would be in a position to furnish sufficient data for the Government to act upon. He had good reason to believe from the expressions and votes of some of the Government that there would be some objections to the line, but if they were sincere, and the mover of the resolution was sincere, the matter would be proceeded with that night. The House was simply asked to affirm the desirableness of the line. He thought it a reasonable resolution, and one the Government would be justified in taking notice of. If a majority of the House thought it necessary and that ——

Mr. FITZPATRICK pointed out that the hon. gentleman was discussing the merits of the bill.

Mr. SPEAKER said that on a motion for the postponement of a resolution the merits of the resolution could not be discussed. Hon. members could only speak on the postponement. He was justified in saying so, and could give sufficient authorities on the subject if required. The present Speaker of the House of Commons on two occasions had used the same words as he, and said also that it was most unusual to oppose the postponement of a resolution when the member in charge of it moved for one.

Mr. DAVIES said that as he had presented a petition in favour of the line signed by thousands of people he felt it his duty to express regret at the matter being postponed.

Mr. WISDOM said he thought it would be wise to postpone the resolution until they had information about the line, as well as that to Muswellbrook.

Mr. GREVILLE said they would be doing wrong to object to the adjournment. At the same time he thought the Minister for Works ought to be placed in a position to give the House fuller information than he was at present able to get.

Mr. W. H. SUTTOR said it would be best to fall in with the desire of the mover of the resolution, seeing that he wished it postponed.

Mr. ROBERTSON said that if the motion was postponed for a month it stood in danger of being put aside altogether, for a month's postponement was nearly the same as a six months' postponement. He took exception to it being called a Mudgee question. It was a most important connection with other railways. The late Government considered it before the present hon. member for Mudgee took his seat in the House, so that hon. gentleman had no more to do with it than any other hon. member. He was sorry to find a disposition to postpone the resolution.

Mr. CHARLES said he would support the postponement until they had the report of the Engineer-in-Chief. Notwithstanding the matter having been agitated before the honorable member for Mudgee took his seat, and petitions being presented in its favour, that honorable gentleman was the mouthpiece of his constituents and the petitioners, and they had a right to consider him as such, and, as he wished for a postponement, agree to it.

Mr. COMBES thought the resolution was premature, as months and months must elapse before the work it proposed could be undertaken, and he thought the best thing to do was to postpone it.

Mr. ROUSE rose to make an explanation with the permission of the House, but Mr. M'Elhone objected.

The motion was agreed to.

ADULTERATION OF FOOD PREVENTION BILL.

Mr. DRIVER moved the second reading of this bill. It had been very carefully drawn and had been very carefully considered by the other branch of the Legislature. There could be no doubt in the mind of any hon. member that there were many places in this city where adulterated food and drink were sold, more especially on Saturday evenings, when the poorer classes were induced to purchase a quantity of things for household consumption that were of a most poisonous and dangerous character. It was within his own knowledge that in different shops in this city there is sold for human food a lot of rubbish not fit to be given to dogs; and the officers whose duty it is to lay informations against persons who sell unwholesome food, had on many occasions reported that the sale of adulterated food was carried on to a very large extent, while the law in its present state would not reach the offenders. The present bill would cure the defects now existing, and he had no doubt that great good would be effected by it.

Mr. JACOB rose to point out that the bill in its present state would be entirely inoperative for want of the necessary machinery to carry its provisions into effect. The bill contained only nine clauses, while the English Act dealing with the same subject contained thirty-six clauses, which included provisions for the appointment of analysts and for the proof of adulteration. But the present bill contained nothing of the kind, and if passed to-morrow would be merely a dead letter.

Mr. DAVIES, while admitting that the object of the bill commended itself to the general acceptance of the House, could not see how the bill itself was to be made operative, and he asked the hon. member in charge of the bill to explain how it could be made operative.

Mr. FARNELL said the bill was a good one so far as it went, but it contained no provision for appointing officers to see it carried out. To prove a case against any person it would be necessary to have the adulterated article analysed, and there were not many private individuals who would go to that expense, and risk also the expenses of the Court if the case should not be proved.

The motion was agreed to, and the bill was read a second time.

Mr. DRIVER said that he did not intend to proceed with the bill to-night, and the House went into committee pro forma, and resumed.

Attention was called to the state of the House, and a quorum was formed.

VOLUNTEER FORCE ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. DIBBS moved the second reading of this bill. The matter had been so recently and so fully discussed in that House that there was no need for him now to go over the same ground again. He would, therefore, simply move that the bill be now read the second time.

Mr. DAVIES thought the hon. member ought to have given some reasons why the bill should be read the second time. He had understood that the Government were going to bring in a bill to deal with the whole question of our defences; and it would be far better that the Government should deal with such a matter than that it should be in the hands of a private member. At the same time, he admitted the necessity for dealing with the Volunteer question; but it ought not to be dealt with in this piecemeal way. There had been no recruiting in the force for some years, and the land order system had tended very much to demoralise the force, and had done serious injury to the colony. This bill dealt with only a very small portion of the subject. The present system operated very unequally: a man who served five years got a land order, but a man who served ten years, and who therefore must be better qualified, got nothing for the second five years. In his opinion, the Volunteer Force ought to be on the same footing as the Naval Brigade.

Mr. COMBES said he would like to know whether the Government intended to deal with the Volunteer Force, and whether they intended to give any more land orders. If a man were now due for his land order he did not see why he should not get the full value of it. If the market value was £150, and they only got £100, it was mulcting them in the sum of £50.

Mr. CAMERON said it had been necessary for a long time past to do something in reference to the land order system, which had done so much to ruin the Volunteer Force. But if they were going to amend the position of the Volunteer Force, let them do so in justice to the people who are in the force. Let them have no tinkering legislation of this sort. This was one of the most crude and ill-considered measures ever laid upon the table of that House for the purpose of dealing with an admitted evil. They had given so many land orders that there were now comparatively few to receive them. But this bill proposed to give them £100 instead of the land orders, whereas the marketable value was £150, and those who served their time out would no doubt be able to get £200 for them. It would, therefore, not be fair to do as this bill proposed to do. The hon. mover the other night accused the member for Orange of having insulted the volunteers, but he was himself offering them a practical insult by touching their pockets. They ought to stick to their bargain, and have nothing of repudiation. He should vote against the bill.

Mr. WARDEN thought the bill wanted more consideration. The volunteers were not entitled to £100. They were entitled to 50 acres of land, but they were not entitled to £100 instead of land valued at £50.

Mr. GREVILLE thought the Government ought to express their opinion upon this important matter. The Government were allowing the House to deal with the subject of our defences in a piecemeal fashion. He thought the subject of our defences ought to be held in abeyance until the opinions of the military officers were laid before them. He thought the bill should be postponed until some full and definite scheme of defence was propounded. If the motion for the second reading were not postponed, it should be rejected on the ground that it was a repudiation of the engagements entered into with the volunteers.

Mr. PARKES admitted this was a matter upon which the Government ought to express its opinion. The more he thought of this bill, the less he liked it. The difficulty which existed arose without any who were parties to the legislation of the time foreseeing what the consequences would be. He had at different times been dealt with rather harshly because he conducted the Volunteer Regulation Bill through the House, and because he was the author of these clauses; but no one at the time pointed out the consequences which had followed, and the House unanimously agreed to the clauses. (Hear, hear.) It was therefore too much to visit upon him the whole blame of the consequences which had followed. (Hear, hear.) He considered those consequences quite calamitous to the country. What was intended was, that power should be given to the volunteers to take up fifty acres of land under the methods known to the law, not that they should have the power of selling them at a vast advance upon their nominal value. Attempts had at different times been made to remedy the evil. He introduced a bill some years ago, but it was strongly objected to, and he withdrew it. He now inclined to the opinion that rather than pass a bill of this kind, giving this enormously advanced value to what was intended, and what was the marketable price of Crown lands, it would be better to let the land orders that had matured or were about to mature take their course, and to pass a short Act repealing these clauses of the Volunteer Regulation Act. Recruiting of the volunteers could then go on at once. No injustice would be done, and in course of time the system would die out. (Hear, hear.) He thought the hon. member would do well to withdraw this bill, and he would undertake to bring in a measure to repeal these clauses. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. DAVIES: This session?

Mr. PARKES: Yes. (Hear, hear.) He did not think that it would take any time; and it would allow the Volunteer Force to be recruited. With regard to the volunteers as a body, he was inclined to think—and he spoke now with some deference, and not as giving expression to a positively matured opinion—the time was coming when we should have a force composed of the citizens of the country—a force based on the principles which entered into the construction of European armies—by which we should have an organized part of the people coming in rotation under military service. (Cheers.) A very short time of regular service—ind[illegible]—would be better than a year's training such as the volunteers now received. (Cheers.) If that principle could be introduced in some modified form, it would be the best safeguard the colony could have. (Cheers.) The old principle of long service was dying out in Europe. The principle upon which the German army was reconstructed and obtained such strength was that of a three years' term of service. After three years service the men could marry, make homes for themselves, and thus, in course of time, the whole nation became an army reserve. When the German army, constructed on this principle, came into contact with the French army, composed of long-service men, it was found that the old French army crumbled before the superior vigour and power which thus confronted them. France was now constructing her Republican army on precisely the same principle as that of Germany was constructed. Instead of having men growing old in the army and then becoming a burden to the country, the youth of the country were made soldiers, and after their short period of service they went into the reserves, and in time of danger the manhood of the country could be depended on to reinforce the army in the field. The best thing for us to do was to construct a force on this principle, modified to suit our circumstances. (Cheers.) He wished to express in this indefinite way the views he was forming, and which he should, no doubt, come to and act upon.

The motion for adjournment was negatived without division.

CANCELLATION OF LEASES.

Mr. M'ELHONE moved—"1. That, in the opinion of this House, all the new reserves, of all sorts, made out of the Yanko and Colombo Creek Reserves should be cancelled from lease, and that all these reserves should be made public reserves, and thrown open to the general public. 2. That the above resolution be communicated by address to his Excellency the Governor." It would be remembered that last session he moved a resolution to the effect that the Yanko and Colombo Creek Reserves should be cancelled, and thrown open for sale to the public, to give all parties a chance to buy up the land. [Attention was called to the state of the House and a quorum was formed.] He was disappointed in the way in which the Government carried out that resolution. They promised eventually that the land should be opened for sale on Thursday; but they opened it on the Tuesday before the Thursday, and the consequence was, that between the Tuesday and Thursday nearly the whole of the water frontage was monopolized by the squatters, who had an interest in the reserve. He held in his hand a Government map, from which he could show that Sir Samuel Wilson, a Victorian squatter, had secured, principally by means of land orders, an immense water frontage; and only one free selector had secured a bit of frontage, which Mr. Samuel Lawson was now trying to swindle him out of by reason of some small improvements he had made on it. In throwing open this land, the late Minister (Mr. Garrett) had made a great number of unnecessary reserves, which the squatters held, and other parts of the land were taken up by persons who were merely dummy selectors. As soon as these reserves should be cancelled, they were likely to fall into the hands of the squatters. A telegram was sent to him the other day from Deniliquin, and he believed a similar telegram had been sent to the Minister for Lands, to the effect that improvements were being made on a railway reserve of 80,000 acres from Deniliquin to Moama. When this reserve should be thrown open, the squatters would be almost certain to get possession of it by reason of these improvements; and if it were put up to sale there would be no competition. The hon. member was proceeding when attention was called to the state of the House, and, there not being a quorum present, Mr. Speaker adjourned the House, at eight minutes to 8 o'clock, until 4 o'clock on Monday next.

The following hon. members were present when the House was counted out:—Messrs. Driver, Windeyer, W. Browne, M'Elhone, Bennett, Shepherd, Moses, Parkes, Day, W. H. Suttor, Watson, Wisdom, Hoskins, Jacob, Cameron, Robertson, Johnston, Farnell, and Combes.

THE KEMBLA'S SERVICES DURING THE RECENT GALE.

An occasional correspondent at Newcastle forwards to us the report which appeared in Monday's Newcastle Pilot of the presentation of an address and purse of sovereigns to Captain Skinner, of the Kembla steamer, and adds thereto some further information of his own, as follows:—

Testimonial to Captain Skinner, Steamship Kembla.

On Saturday morning, before the steamer Kembla cast off from the wharf to proceed to Sydney, Captain Skinner, her commander, was waited upon by several leading citizens representing the commercial interest of the city, and presented with an address, which included the names of all the banks, coal companies, and leading merchants of the city, and was accompanied by a purse of sovereigns. The object of the testimonial was to record the feeling of the subscribers towards Captain Skinner, for the advantage conferred upon the mercantile community by the running of the Kembla to and from Sydney on several occasions during the late gale when the boats of the other companies were detained in port owing to the state of the weather. The time of presentation having been decided upon somewhat hurriedly, many who had contributed were absent, but amongst those present were Mr. C. H. Stokes, Mr. J. R. Bingle (Bingle, White, and Co.), Mr. Alexander Brown, senior, Mr. Alexander Brown, junior (J. and A. Brown), and Mr. C. W. Readett.

The proceedings were opened by Mr. Alexander Brown, senior, who, addressing Captain Skinner, said the mercantile community had been indebted to him on several occasions during the late stormy weather for maintaining mail communication with Sydney. In one instance especially, the good ship Kembla and her plucky commander rendered valuable service. Those corresponding with the East had good cause to remember, for had not the Kembla left for Sydney on the eve of the day on which the San Francisco mail closed, a month's communication with the East would have been lost. He (Mr. Brown) desired for himself and others who had been equally benefited, to express a feeling of obligation to Captain Skinner and those under his command, hence the recognition he had pleasure in conveying. The gift was a very trifling matter—hardly worth mentioning—but it carried significance taken in connection with the address from those who had subscribed, which he would now ask Mr. Bingle, who had taken prominent interest in bringing about the well-deserved acknowledgment, to read.

Mr. J. R. Bingle then read the following address:—

"To Captain Skinner, Commanding Steamer Kembla.—Dear Sir,—We, the undersigned merchants, traders, and others, residents in this city, being anxious of expressing our high approval of your conduct in constantly maintaining the mail traffic from and to Sydney, during the boisterous weather which prevailed at the close of last and the early portion of this month, are very pleased to take part in the accompanying testimonial. Apart from the advantages we derived from the proper maintenance of the ordinary daily postal traffic, our English mails were delivered to us, and our letters for the San Francisco and China mails were taken on to Sydney by you, when the other companies' boats were either unable or unwilling to perform their duty in these respects; and, had it not been for you, these mails, or the two latter, would have been absolutely lost to us. It is a matter of satisfaction to us that, whilst you served us in a way that we cannot as merchants over estimate, the safety of your passengers and crew was not endangered. Such services we deem to be worthy of all public recognition. We therefore beg of you to accept this slight mark of our appreciation and esteem."

Captain Skinner, having received the address and a purse containing 36 sovereigns, said he could assure Mr. Bingle, Mr. Brown, and the other gentlemen who had so unexpectedly interested themselves on his behalf, that he fully appreciated their testimonial. There had been heavy weather on the coast, and probably would be again; but whilst he had such a vessel as the Kembla under his command, and was aided by good officers, in both departments, like at present, nothing less than the probability of endangering life and property would cause him to forego a trip. Captain Skinner further mentioned the fact of the Kembla not having missed a single trip during the last six months; and seeing that her certificate had (after examination by the Government Engineer) been renewed within the last few days, he considered it was a complete refutation of the reports circulated that she was unsafe to travel by. No one would be mad enough to venture to sea in heavy weather unless the vessel they commanded was in efficient order in every respect, and this he had no hesitation in saying the Kembla was. After again expressing his sense of the kindly feelings that had been shown towards him, Captain Skinner took his leave, and a few minutes later the steamer left the wharf.

We hear that a further amount was forwarded to Captain Skinner in Sydney, by Saturday evening's post, to add to the testimonial contributed by several gentlemen who had not before heard of the movement, and took this opportunity of joining in it.—Maitland Mercury.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1877.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Several questions were asked, the replies to which will be found in the report in chief.

Mr. Hoskins laid upon the table a report from Mr. Licensed-surveyor J. F. Mann, on the state of Beach-street, Coogee Bay.

Ordered to be printed.

The Duty on Gold Abolition Bill was read a third time, and transmitted to the Legislative Council for its concurrence.

On the motion of Mr. J. S. Smith, it was ordered that there be laid upon the table copies of all correspondence, documents, &c., relative to the projected line of railway from Orange to Wellington via Molong.

Mr. J. S. Smith moved that there be laid upon the table of the House a copy of the petition from residents of Sally's Flat and Monkey Hill to the Minister for Lands, against the sale of certain Crown lands in those localities, together with any correspondence having reference to the subject matter of said petition.

Agreed to.

Mr. Macintosh moved the second reading of the Sydney Common Improvement Act Amendment Bill. The object of the bill was to enable the Corporation of the city to borrow a further sum of money for the purpose of liquidating a bank overdraft; the debentures thus raised to be chargeable upon that portion of the City Common not authorized to be sold.

After some observations from Mr. Lucas, the bill was read a second time, and, having been partly considered in committee, progress was reported, and leave obtained to sit again.

Mr. Rouse moved the postponement until that day four weeks of the order of the day for the consideration in committee of certain resolutions in favour of the construction of a railway from Wallerawang to Mudgee. He wished to obtain further information before moving the resolutions.

Mr. M'Elhone opposed the postponement. The matter ought to be decided at once.

Mr. Hoskins approved of the postponement, as it could not be expected that the Government could come to any decision on this matter until the Engineer-in-Chief had sent in his report as to which would be the best route to adopt.

Mr. Lackey thought that the Government were in as good a position now as they would be in a month hence to give a decided opinion upon this matter. Surely the Minister for Works could say whether he was in favour of the line to Mudgee or not.

After remarks from Mr. Pilcher, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Hurley (Hartley), Mr. H. C. Dangar, Mr. Jacob, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Garrett, Mr. Baker, Mr. Lucas, Mr. Cohen, Mr. Day, Mr. Davies, Mr. Windom, Mr. Greville, Mr. W. H. Suttor, Mr. Robertson, Mr. Charles, and Mr. Combes, the motion was agreed to.

Mr. Driver moved the second reading of the Adulteration of Food Prevention Bill. The bill had been well considered in the other branch of the Legislature. He pointed out the necessity which existed for passing such a measure, and hoped that it would be productive of much good.

Mr. Jacob said that the present law on this subject was inoperative because there was no machinery for enforcing its provisions. The bill now before them appeared to be defective in the same respect. There were several objectionable features in the bill which it would be well to amend in committee.

Mr. Davies, while agreeing with the object of the bill, did not think that in its present shape it would be workable.

Mr. Farnell thought the bill good so far as it went; but even if it were passed into law, he did not see how it was to be made effective. No provision was made for prosecutions under it, and private persons were not likely to become informers except in rare instances.

The second reading was agreed to, and the House having gone into committee on the bill pro formâ, progress was reported, and leave obtained to sit again.

Mr. Dibbs moved the second reading of the Volunteer Force Regulation Bill. The bill simply provided that money should be given to volunteers in lieu of land. The House having in a previous session agreed to a similar measure, he did not think it necessary to say anything in support of it.

Mr. Davies thought the subject was one which should be dealt with by the Government, and not by a private member.

Mr. Combes wished to know whether the Government intended to enrol any more volunteers; and, if not, what steps they contemplated with regard to a defence force.

Mr. Cameron thought that the land order system had been a curse to the country, but he was opposed to repudiation. A bargain had been made with the volunteers, which ought to be observed at any cost. The market value of a land order at present was about £150, whereas the bill only proposed to give £100 in lieu of an order.

Mr. Warden opposed the bill as a breach of faith with the volunteers.

Mr. Greville thought that the House was entitled to the opinion of the Government on this matter. The Government were now permitting this important subject to be dealt with in a piecemeal manner.

Mr. Parkes said the more he thought of the bill the less he liked it. The difficulties which had arisen in connection with the land order system had not been foreseen by any one at the time when they were brought into operation. All that was intended was that the volunteers should have the opportunity of taking up fifty acres of land under the provisions of our land laws. He thought the best course would be not to interfere with the position of those volunteers at present in the service, but to repeal those clauses of the Volunteer Regulation Act which provided for the issue of land orders, and he promised to bring in a bill for that purpose during the present session. Recruiting for the force could then go on as formerly. He began to think that the time had arrived for the establishment of a military force, upon something like the principle that was now being acted upon in Europe, namely, the principle of short service, which had been found so effective in Germany. Some system like that, with such modifications as our circumstances might require, would he thought give us a body of men better adapted to the requirements of the country than our present Volunteer Force. He suggested the withdrawal of the bill.

The second reading was negatived without division.

Several orders of the day were discharged from the paper, and the remaining orders were postponed.

Mr. M'Elhone moved that all the new reserves made out of the Yanko and Colombo Creek reserves should be cancelled from lease, and made public reserves. He complained of the way in which the above reserves had been thrown open to the public by the late Government; the consequence being that the greater portion of them had fallen into the hands of monopolists and land-sharks. There were few bona fide selectors on these reserves, nearly the whole of them having been taken up by dummies. He asserted that the water and timber reserves were made solely in the interests of the squatters, and not of the general public.

The hon. member was still speaking, when attention was called to the state of the House, and, there being no quorum, the House, at ten minutes to 8 o'clock, adjourned to 4 p.m. on Monday next.

The third group in our classification of the revenue for the current year consists of charges and receipts under the heads Law and Justice, Prisons, Lunatic Asylums, and miscellaneous or unclassified. The last may be disposed of by simply explaining that the receipts include £60,000 of interest on the surplus lent to the banks, and a variety of other items not easily relegated to any distinct head; and the expenditure consists of the interest payable on the public debt incurred for other purposes than railways and telegraphs, of the revenue and receipts returned, and of a large number of small charges which do not call for special notice. The other three are among the most important functions of government, and deserve closer attention.

The expenditure for the year on account of law and the administration of justice, exclusive of the salaries of the Chief Justice and the three Puisne Judges, provided for by schedule, is to be £115,753, for which the exchequer is to receive in fees and other public contributions £31,550. We are not aware that the present Legislative Assembly has entered into a conspiracy to strike off all charges to the public for Government services; but just as one honorable member has had the tolls and ferries struck off and another the gold duty, and others propose the reduction of the duties on tea, sugar, kerosene, tobacco, and many other articles, without a single proposal from any quarter to provide an equivalent source of revenue in any other form, so Mr. W. H. Suttor would abolish fees on trials and some other expenses of law. Some of these abolitions and reductions are right in themselves; but when an obnoxious impost is removed, a better substitute should be provided to take its place as a feeder to the revenue. For Mr. Suttor's motion a very good argument was adduced by him, if it were relevant—the canon of Magna Charta, which declares that "justice and right shall not be sold, nor denied, nor delayed to any man." But, by accepting these fees, does the State sell justice to litigants? The decision of the Judge and the verdict of the jury are not swayed one hair's breadth by the payment or non-payment of fees, and if a suitor is too poor to pay them he can still sue in forma pauperis. It is not these small fees that make litigation so expensive. There are charges out of Court far heavier than any within it. Law has become a profession, and the statute-book is such a labyrinth that few men can "plead their own cause" with any chance of success. Gentlemen learned in the law are seldom sure of a verdict, however strong their conviction may be of the right of the case, because there are so many technical points by which a verdict may be overruled or reversed; and if a verdict is secured, fees of counsel and a score of other charges are so heavy that it is often far cheaper to surrender the case without litigation than to win it by such costly processes. In the Statute-book of the colony, and in our forms of judicial procedure, there is ample room for the zeal of legal reformers, but Mr. Suttor's motion is very far from going to the root of the evil, and almost deserves designating by the proverbial expression "straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel."

Taking the particulars of this branch of expenditure, it is remarkable that in 1856, for a mean population of 282,000, including the district of Moreton Bay, which is now the colony of Queensland, the salaries of the Judges were £7647. For the current year they are put down at £9600 for a mean population of 645,000, which is just half the rate, in proportion to population, which prevailed twenty years ago. But in the interval there has grown up a large expenditure for the local administration of justice by means of Petty Sessions, which ramify now over almost the entire colony. Out of the £115,753 of charges for law and justice they will absorb this year £45,196, or nearly one-half, chiefly in salaries to police magistrates. In the form of fees and fines they will return £18,000 of this expenditure to the exchequer. Perhaps it may be worthy of the attention of social reformers that the principal business of these Petty Sessions is to grant licenses to publicans on one side and pronounce judgment upon the publicans' customers and victims on the other. May it not also be worthy of consideration whether a diminution of the first function would not also lead to a diminution of the other? Putting together all these legal charges, schedules included, the total for 1856 was equal to 2s. 11½d. per head of the mean population for that year; and for 1877 it will be equal to 3s. 10d. per head, an increase equal to 30 per cent. on the law charges of 1856, principally due to the extension of Courts of Petty Sessions.

Turning next to the head of Prisons, it will be seen that the expenditure is to be £63,650, for which the revenue receives £3350 from the proceeds of prison labour. In all the gaols and police gaols of the colony at Michaelmas of 1875 there were 1838 prisoners, some of them juvenile delinquents between the ages of ten and twenty years. For the care of these offenders there are 361 persons provided for in the Estimates, besides 418 on the judicial list for their trial and sentence, not to reckon the police staff of 1015 for their arrest, and to protect society against their depredations. Crime is a costly thing to society. What holier cause could inspire the social reformer than the discovery of means for its prevention and cure? Taking merely the lower financial results, if we may suppose the number confined at Michaelmas to represent the average number during the whole year, the cost of each prisoner in gaol, deducting the earnings of prison labour from the prison estimates, is over £45 for the year. As the law is for offenders, the judicial and police expenditure also must be put down largely to the account of these transgressors, more than half of whom are criminals by habit, if not by profession, and manage to get back to gaol almost as soon as let out. The whole subject of prison discipline needs careful revision. Healthy labour and a sound education are the two most effective reforming influences; and if a prisoner can be trained to habits of industry and sobriety there is some hope of his reclamation. In this way it has been found possible in some places to make prisons self-supporting; and where that can be done without weakening the deterrent influence which penal confinement is meant to have, it seems but reasonable that so large an amount of human energy should be conserved to society rather than wasted in the blind spirit of revenge.

The cost of our Lunatic Asylums for the year is to be £61,878, reduced by £1475 in contributions from the relatives of inmates, a sum which Dr. Manning has shown to be absurdly small in comparison with the means of the donors. The staff of officers and servants provided for on the Estimates is 216, without including the private asylums; and the number of inmates at the date of the last published returns was 1707. Supposing that to be the average annual number, it follows that the cost to the country for each inmate of these asylums is £35 a year as compared with £45—the annual cost of a prisoner in our gaols, and that the colony has to support a larger number of the insane and inebriate than of prisoners. Careful investigation has shown that the crime and lunacy of a country are often to be traced to the same or similar causes; and here, again, there is room for the beneficent labours of the student of human nature, and the reformer of man's habits and morals. So far as the revenue is concerned, we have a deficit of £204,906 on account of law charges, prisons, and lunatic asylums to be added to the sums already indicated, to be met by the surplus arising from taxes and the sale of the public estate.

There was a short discussion in the House a few days ago upon the treatment received by live stock at railway stations, and generally upon the provision for conveying stock by rail. Serious complaints were made as to the inadequacy and unsuitableness of the arrangements and appliances. It was stated, for instance, that two-decked sheep trucks were in use, and that they were loaded by employing men to lift the sheep up by main force to the upper compartment, and unloaded by allowing the sheep to jump out at the risk of their legs, which were often broken. Mr. Hoskins said that he had already given instructions to have platforms provided, for the purpose of affording the animals a safer and easier mode of access and egress. It seems remarkable, however, that the difficulty has not been disposed of before. It is no new thing to hear complaints about the inconvenience and delay attendant upon the use of the railways for the conveyance of stock. It has been said that, notwithstanding the time consumed and the loss of weight and deterioration in quality in driving stock by road from the mountains to Sydney, it has been found more advantageous to drive them than to send them by rail. Time has been wasted at stations by the want of trucks, and the animals have suffered by being knocked about in the process of "trucking" them. It is encouraging to find that Mr. Hoskins has directed his attention to some at least of these matters. As the railways are being pushed further and further towards the pastoral country, the better is the prospect of developing a large business in the carriage of stock. But the department must, to use a common phrase, "lay itself out for it." The growth of the trade will depend upon the advantages offered by the railways in the matter of facilities and cheapness. The stockowners will use them if they find it more to their purpose to do so than to send their stock by the road. They will not use them for the purpose only of swelling the income of the Railway Department. The wisdom of the department, therefore, will be shown in making it worth their while to use the railways, so far as that can be done without sacrificing the public interest. And this end should be sought, not by an undue reduction of charges, but by making every possible arrangement to enable the stockowners to do their business with economy, efficiency, and dispatch. A reasonable charge should be made. It is not true policy to confer favours upon the stockowners at the public cost. But neither is it sound policy to treat them as if the department were conferring a favour upon them; and if, after paying a reasonable charge, it was their duty to be content and thankful with any sort of accommodation that may be provided. In the working of commercial enterprises that are conducted by the State, it is well to be on the guard against the tendency to manage matters after the fashion. And we are not sure that this tendency did not show itself the other day when, as Mr. HOSKINS was admitting some of the deficiencies in the railway management of this colony, Mr. ROBERTSON interjected the remark that he seemed to be making an Opposition speech.

In the course of the discussion, Mr. H. C. DANGAR expressed the fear that no amount of ingenuity would enable us to carry cattle and sheep by rail as well as they were carried in England, because in England stock there are tamer than in Australia. This fear relates, presumably, to the difficulty of putting stock on board the railway trucks, and to the ill-usage which they are liable to suffer in that operation. It is not too much, however, to expect that the difficulty and risk in this matter should be lessened, even if they cannot be removed, by the application of a little more ingenuity than has been brought to bear upon it. Have we reached the ne plus ultra of perfection in the design of our cattle and sheep trucks, and the mode of loading and unloading them? That can hardly be maintained in presence of the statements about the lifting and jumping of the sheep, and the proposed introduction of sloping platforms. But may it not be a mistake to have side-loading instead of end-loading stock trucks? With trucks opening at the ends, a little ingenuity would convert a whole train into what would be for loading purposes practically one carriage; the stock, after one stepping in, would go on and fill it from end to end; and the trouble that is met with in getting them to enter would be incurred once and for all instead of being repeated half-a-dozen times over. This expedient was suggested to the Government years ago by one of its own officers; but we are much mistaken if it has ever had the practical trial which it is entitled to.

The talk about the conveyance of stock by rail naturally enough branched off into matters affecting stock travelling by road. The question of reserves for travelling stock is one of yearly-increasing importance. As we pointed out a few days ago, considerable changes have already been introduced in the conduct of pastoral enterprise; and under the altering conditions of the colony further changes may be confidently expected. More care and attention, and systematic provision for details, will be required generally. It will be found impossible a few years hence to continue the system, or rather want of system, that now obtains in the matter of travelling. Already the practice of sending large flocks of sheep to wander about the country in search of grass and water at the approach of every dry season has become an almost intolerable wrong to the many who suffer by it; and if the Legislature has a true regard for the welfare of the pastoral interest, the time cannot be long postponed when the whole question of stock-driving will be treated in a business-like manner. It is of little use to make reserves for travelling stock if they are not reserved for their legitimate purpose, and kept in such a condition as to serve it. And these ends are not likely to be secured unless the reserves are fenced and placed under proper care, and made available only to those persons who will pay a reasonable charge for the use of them for a fixed period. The reserves should, in fact, be accommodation paddocks, which no one should be permitted to monopolise. It may be said that the Government would be encroaching upon the province of private enterprise in providing and maintaining them. The first question, however, is whether private enterprise could undertake the matter with a chance of profit. If not, the thing must be left undone unless it be done by the State. But if the State found that a profit could be made from it, there would be no difficulty in withdrawing from the business and leasing the reserves by tender or auction, with a reserved power to regulate the charges. Ultimately, the business of providing such accommodation will doubtless fall into private hands. But now nearly all things in connection with pastoral enterprise are in a state of transition; and it is for the Government to consider what arrangements can best be made to suit the circumstances.

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH MAIL VIA SAN FRANCISCO.—The Californian mail steamer City of New York was signalled off the Heads, when we went to press.

ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.—The following is the order of musical service for Trinity Sunday, 27th May:—Magnificat, Arnold in A; Nunc Dimittis, Arnold in A; anthem, Hallelujah chorus—Messiah.

GOVERNOR'S LEVEE.—The name of the Rev. R. S. Paterson, the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, was inadvertently omitted from the list in our report of those gentlemen who had cards of entrée to the Governor's levee. Lieutenant M'Cutcheon writes to say that he "regrets that his name should have been omitted this year as well as last from the list of those officers of defence forces presented at the levee." We may state that Lieutenant M'Cutcheon's name was inserted in the list of private gentlemen, as his card did not show what rank he holds in the defence forces. Mr. William Percy Faithfull also writes to say that he "felt rather annoyed this morning at not finding himself credited with notice, especially as last year exactly the same thing happened." Mr. J. P. Josephson calls attention to a misprint in his name—J. F. having been printed in place of J. P. Mr. J. H. O'Neil, was also present.

PROPOSED BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.—A preliminary meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of initiating the formation of an association amongst the mercantile brokers of Sydney. Those present entered fully into the matter, and a committee was formed to carry out the objects proposed. At an early date a meeting of the mercantile brokers is to be held to receive a report from the committee, and an opinion was generally expressed that a much desired object was in a fair way of being attained. Mr. G. W. Davis was appointed hon. secretary.

COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET TO THE HON. JOHN YOUNG.—A number of our leading citizens have resolved upon paying a compliment to the Hon. John Young, representative Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, at the Sydney Exhibition. An influential committee has been chosen to make the necessary arrangements for a banquet, to be given at the Exchange, on Tuesday evening next.

RAILWAY OMNIBUSES.—It has been the custom hitherto for the conductors of the omnibuses plying to and from the Sydney Railway Station to sell tickets to the public. This practice has been discontinued, but the S. U. O. Company have made arrangements for the sale of omnibus tickets at the Sydney terminus.

N. S. W. ALLIANCE FOR SUPPRESSION OF INTEMPERANCE.—On Wednesday evening, in connection with the above, Mr. James Merson, of Victoria, delivered in the Old Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, to a numerous and attentive audience, a lecture on the "Wine Question, considered in the light of Scripture, History, and Science." The lecture was well received, and at its close eleven persons came forward and joined the alliance. A vote of thanks to the lecturer was carried, on the motion of Mr. Carpenter, seconded by Mr. Woods. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Mills.

HOUSEHOLD Furniture, this day, at 11 a.m.—Bradley, Newton, and Lamb, auctioneers, Spring and O'Connell streets.—ADVT.

MICROSCOPICAL SECTION, ROYAL SOCIETY.—The first meeting of the session was held by this section at the society's room, on Wednesday evening. In the absence of the chairman, Mr. H. C. Russell, F.R.A.S., consented to preside. The minutes having been read, Mr. Alfred Roberts, M.R.C.S., was unanimously re-elected chairman for the current year, and Mr. G. D. Hirst re-elected secretary. A ballot was then taken for the committee, and the following gentlemen were declared elected:—Rev. G. Martin, Mr. Hugh Paterson, Dr. Milford, and Mr. W. Mac Donnell. It was resolved that in future the section should meet on the second Monday in each month. A donation of slides was presented from Mr. H. Sharp, of Adelong; these were principally parasites of animals mounted in glycerine with tin cells, and showed great neatness and dexterity in mounting. Mr. G. Hirst exhibited Swift's patent achromatic condenser; he explained the application of it, and read a few notes on the use of achromatic condensers generally. The Rev. G. Martin exhibited a Crouch's No. A1 binocular microscope, built with particular solidity, concentric rotating stage, substage, and apparatus; object, tarsus of diamond beetle. Mr. W. Mac Donnell exhibited a massive binocular microscope by Negretti and Zambra, on the Ross model, with achromatic condenser, substage, and apparatus; object, infusoria. The same gentleman also exhibited a metal gauge for measuring the thickness of glass covers to 1000th of an inch. Dr. Milford exhibited a large binocular by Collins, with substage and condenser added by Gaunt of Melbourne; object, section of pampas grass. Mr. Hirst exhibited a binocular by Swift, with special adaptation of the analyzing prism for the polariscope; object, gizzard of black cricket.

ST. ANDREW'S SCOTS CHURCH, OFF BATHURST-STREET.—The annual congregational meeting was held in the evening of Monday, the 14th instant, the Rev. D. White in the chair. The committee in its report testified "with feelings of devout gratitude to the Giver of all good, to the unanimity and kindly feeling which had prevailed both in committee and congregation during the year," and intimated that the financial position of the church, when compared with that of the previous year, afforded in its great improvement matter for much congratulation." The ordinary revenue for the year amounted to £854 8s. 5d., including £101 7s. 2d., being the proceeds of two collections in aid of the church enlargement fund, and the ordinary expenditure £809 6s. 8d., leaving a balance in hand of £45 1s. 9d. In addition to the ordinary revenue a further sum of £373 4s. 6d. was contributed to the church enlargement fund, making £474 11s. 8d. raised for building purposes this year; a donation of £130 to the town mission fund was received; and £65 was contributed towards the salary of a missionary, making a total revenue of £1422 12s. 11d. for the year. The treasurer of the church enlargement fund made the gratifying announcement that the church was now free of debt. It was also intimated that the Sabbath school buildings in Kent-street, which had been in disuse for years, had been put into thorough repair, and would be opened shortly. The session report showed that there had been 31 admissions to membership during the year (making 133 in all since August, 1873) and 12 disjunctions, leaving 175 on the roll at the end of the year as against 156 last year, and that the various congregational agencies, viz., 3 prayer meetings, 2 (one conducted by the minister, the other by a layman) Bible classes for young ladies, a literary and theological class for young men, the Sabbath schools, a young men's mutual improvement association, a town mission association, and a psalmody association had been in effective operation during the year. The Sabbath-school report showed a considerable increase in the number of scholars. It was resolved, on the recommendation of the committee of management, to give the minister one month's leave of absence in each year.

FOUND DEAD IN HYDE PARK.—Yesterday the City Coroner held at his office, in Hyde Park, an inquest touching the cause of death of William Rutter, aged 50, whose body had been found lying in Hyde Park on the forenoon of the preceding day. A brother of the deceased said he had been out of employment for some time; he last saw him alive about a week or ten days ago; on Tuesday last he had a letter from him in which he stated that he was very ill with cold and that he was spitting blood; he had left a widow and two children. Jane Brown, barmaid at the Swan with Two Necks, George-street, deposed that deceased left at about 11 o'clock on last Wednesday night, saying that he was going home; he was then quite sober. Constable Dillon deposed that about half-past 8 o'clock on Thursday morning he found the body in Hyde Park, to the south of Park-street; he took it to the dead-house at the Sydney Infirmary. Dr. Frean, house physician at the Sydney Infirmary, deposed that death had resulted from disease of the lungs. The post-mortem examination had shown that deceased had been suffering from pleuro-pneumonia. The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

SYDNEY INFIRMARY.—The following cases have been received for treatment:—Henry Clark, 42, who had sustained fracture of the ribs on left side; Robert Crum, 12, injury to the arm; Mary Anne O'Connor, 2½, injury to the arm.

TIN ORE AND COPPER.—Return of tin ore received at Morpeth station for week ending 19th May:—From Murrurundi, 49 tons 7 cwt. 1 qr. 16 lbs. Return of copper received at Sydney station for week ending 19th May, 1877:—From Bowning—42 bags regulus, 4 tons 1 cwt.; 765 ingots copper, 5 tons 6 cwt. 1 qr. From Orange—426 ingots copper, 3 tons.

WATERLOO PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—On Tuesday evening, 22nd instant, the Rev. Dr. Steel delivered in the above church, in aid of the funds of the congregation, his interesting lecture on "the Early Christian Church in the Catacombs of Rome," illustrated by a series of appropriate diagrams. The church was crowded. The Rev. T. J. Curtis occupied the chair. A vote of thanks to the lecturer was carried by acclamation.

ST. ALBAN'S, FIVE DOCK.—A meeting of the members of the congregation was held last Wednesday evening, for the purpose of devising measures to get the church put into a thorough state of repair. The incumbent presided, and opened the meeting with prayer. Resolutions were unanimously passed—1st, affirming the necessity of immediate steps being taken to repair the building; 2nd, the appointment of a committee to obtain subscriptions. It was ascertained that the probable cost of the repairs and alterations, including entirely new seats, would be about £80. The chairman undertook to apply for assistance to the Church Society towards carrying out this necessary work, thus putting the church into a more suitable condition for the due celebration of Divine service, and expressed a hope that a grant might be obtained from the society, to supplement the local subscriptions. Another meeting will be held next Monday week, when the collectors will report the result of their appeal to the liberality of the residents in Five Dock in furtherance of this good work.

LIVERPOOL ASYLUM.—The dinner given by his Excellency Sir Hercules Robinson to the inmates of this asylum on the occasion of her Majesty's Birthday went off with great éclat. It consisted of roast beef, plum pudding, potatoes, pint of ale, fig of tobacco, and pipe to each inmate. The afternoon was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and all seemed thoroughly to appreciate the good things that were provided by his Excellency.

GLEBE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH — ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.—The second anniversary of the opening of the temporary church and the formation of the Sabbath school was held on Sabbath last, 20th instant. In the morning, the Rev. Andrew Gardiner, M.A., pastor of the church, preached to a crowded congregation. A most interesting service for the young was held in the afternoon, at which addresses were given by three students for the ministry of the Presbyterian Church—Messrs. Waugh, Jackson, and Steel—and Mr. Joseph Paxton, conducted the singing. The church was so full that many could not gain admission. In the evening, the Rev. John Kinross, B.A., Principal of St. Andrew's College, officiated, and the church was again full. The collection, which was for the building fund of the new church in course of erection, amounted to £12.

TREMENDOUS FIRE AT SINGAPORE.—We learn from Straits papers that on the 18th April there occurred at Singapore the greatest fire ever recorded in that place. It broke out at Tanjore Pagar Wharf, and before it was extinguished it destroyed an immense quantity of property. It began at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and by 6 o'clock some 30,000 tons of coal were one mass of flames. In a little while the whole of the coolie quarter was entirely consumed. Our latest dates inform us that the fire was still burning, in spite of the energetic efforts of several fire companies to put it out. The fire originated in a shop at the wharf, but its cause had not been traced. The Dock Company will sustain a loss of probably £60,000.

NOTES ON NEW SOUTH WALES.—A lady who has recently completed a tour round the world has published at home a pamphlet containing brief notes of her travel. The following remarks are of interest:—"Niagara, Mount Cenis, and the Zigzag in New South Wales are the three grandest sights I have seen. How true it is that one glance does more than the best description books can give, or the most gifted man can pourtray in the most eloquent language words can convey. As proof of this, even with pictorial representations: a picture of Sydney Harbour was sent us some years ago, but none of us could obtain any idea worth having, whereas one glance conveyed to the mind more than studying that picture did for hours. As I have spoken of Sydney Harbour, I will describe my first entry into it. We had been thirty-five days at sea, and had had some uneasiness on our voyage through the helm and also the engine having been greatly out of order; so of course I was all anxiety to get to Sydney, knowing how my friends had been looking for me to arrive nine days before. We first sighted land at Port Stephens, coasted at a distance past Newcastle, and about 3 in the afternoon of July the 1st we seemed, as I thought, steadily going into a creek in the land. I viewed this with some degree of anxiety; when I asked Captain Moore what that gap was, he said, 'It is Sydney, we are close ahead of it, and shall very soon be in the harbour.' . . . . I can not name all the bays, but I am told that if they were rounded, as well as the beautiful river Parramatta measured, it would be 1400 miles in length. The country is undulatory, not mountainous. Darling and Potts Points carry the palm for beauty. I must not spend more time about the harbour; any one wishing fully to realize its beauties must put themselves in the way of doing so by crossing the ocean. . . . The Botanical Gardens will bear comparison with any in the world, and the Domain, both of which are bordering on the harbour."

CRICKET.—A telegram from Parkes states that a cricket match was played there on Thursday, between the Condobolin and Parkes teams. It was decided by the first innings; the Parkes team winning with 70 runs to spare. The weather was splendid.

DEPUTATIONS.

BIBLE COMBINATION.

YESTERDAY morning a deputation from the Bible Combination, consisting of the Revs. G. Sutherland, J. S. Paterson, D. Allen, R. Taylor, Mr. R. Macpherson (Mayor of Waverley), Mr. J. F. Smith (Mayor of Newtown), and Mr. F. R. Chilcott (secretary), waited upon the Hon. Henry Parkes at his office.

Mr. W. J. FOSTER, who introduced the deputation, said he had been asked by the Bible Combination to present to the Colonial Secretary as shortly as possible, the matter that had brought them there as a deputation. The Bible Combination was a matter that Mr. Parkes must have some knowledge of, and he need not go into many introductory remarks. The objects of the Bible Combination were explained in the manifesto which they had put forth. They desired to have the Bible read in the Public schools of the colony during the first half-hour of the day, and that proper prayers should be used at the closing and opening of the schools—leaving it optional for those children whose parents did not approve of this course to be absent at the time. They were unanimous in their desire to have the Bible read as a standard work in the Public schools of the colony. They regarded this as quite compatible with the Public Schools Act, and by no means adverse to it. They did not desire to interfere otherwise with that Act, but rather to engraft this principle upon it. The principal opposition they had met was from what was known as the League, who also professed to support to some extent the Public Schools Act. He would not now enlarge upon the necessity for moral education, and the desirableness of having the Bible taught to the young. No other scheme presented before the public had the merit of being practicable and advantageous at the same time. The present idea of giving religious instruction appeared to be a failure, and not sufficient for the youth of the country. Their wish was that, if Mr. Parkes approved of the principle, he would introduce it into the new bill he intended to bring before the country. A very large number of persons who had not joined the Combination were nevertheless with them in regard to this principle, though the great difficulty had been the fear lest they might disturb the effect of the present Public Schools Act in favour of the League, or lessen the prospects of the Denominational system. But for that many on both sides would have joined them. As for the Denominationalists, they had their almost unanimous approval. As regards the practicability of the scheme, he pointed out what had been accomplished by the London School Board in this direction. The Bible Combination were in favour of the system adopted there, with only such modifications as might be necessary to adapt it to our circumstances. They had avoided all details, for they only wanted to get the great principle recognised, that the Bible was to be acknowledged as a standard book in the schools of a Christian country. Those were the great objects for which they had combined, and they desired to know if they would have the co-operation of Mr. Parkes in regard to that principle.

Mr. PARKES asked whether the deputation had formed any opinion as to how the Bible was to be read in the Public schools. He did not consider that as being among the details of the question. It seemed to him a very great thing indeed as to who was to determine what part of the Bible was to be read.

Mr. FOSTER said that could be determined by the education authorities. The Board, and not each master, should give positive directions.

The Rev. J. S. PATERSON said that the resolution passed by the London School Board showed how that question was to be disposed of. The Combination would be satisfied to leave the matter with the Council of Education, or whatever Board might be entrusted with the duty of directing what books were to be used in the schools. Unless the Word of God were taught in the schools thousands of children would never know anything whatever about that book.

Mr. PARKES said he was entirely in the position of a listener, for so far as his answer to the deputation was concerned, all that he had to say was that he could not consent to take any part of the public into his confidence thus far beforehand in regard to the principles that would be contained in the bill which the Government intended to submit to Parliament. Such a course would be very unwise on his part, and he did not think that any person on reflection would expect him to do it. But the bill they introduced—and if the Government remained in office they would introduce it before the end of the year—would be prepared with a clear conviction that upon its adequacy to meet the demands of the time would depend the reputation of the Government. It would, therefore, be prepared with as much care and judgment, and anxiety to meet the necessities of the case, as the Government could bestow upon it. He did not say that it would be a bill to amend the Public Schools' Act, but it would be a bill to deal with the education question generally, and, consequently, would be of a comprehensive character. In reply to an observation from Mr. Foster, Mr. Parkes said further, that the Government proposed to meet Parliament in another session before the dissolution, and it was their purpose to place before Parliament in that session a bill to deal with the education question. They did not propose to go on with this bill further than to make a thorough explanation of it, so that the people might have an opportunity of deciding upon its provisions at the next general election. In other words, they thought that no change should take place in the present law until an opportunity had been given to the people to express their opinions upon the measure proposed. They would not suffer any pet scheme to influence them; they would look at the question as broadly as they could, looking upon the community as a mixed community, and they would endeavour to deal with the question as fairly as possible, without any regard to different organizations or pet proposals.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

A deputation from the Committee of the Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts waited upon the Minister for Justice and Public Instruction (the Hon. F. B. Suttor) on Wednesday last, to suggest that the mechanics' institutes of the colony were the most appropriate mediums for carrying out any scheme of popular scientific instruction, by means of evening classes or lectures; and also to request assistance in founding a working men's college for imparting technical education to the artizans and apprentices of the city. The deputation was introduced by Alderman Macintosh, M.P. (vice-president of the institution), and consisted of Dr. Paterson, Messrs. W. M. Alderson, F. J. Thomas, James Dalgarno, Richard Teece, Norman Selfe, Edward Dowling, and John Rogers (secretary).

Dr. PATERSON explained that the Committee of the Sydney School of Arts had under their consideration for several years past the necessity for extending its present educational system by the formation of a much larger number of technical classes, and now solicited assistance from the Government towards the erection of a laboratory, lecture rooms, and extra class rooms required for carrying out that desirable object.

Mr. MACINTOSH explained the action taken a few years since by the committee in this matter, and referred to the large number of members belonging to the School of Arts, its central position, present great educational appliances, and the excellent work performed by it since its formation in 1833.

Mr. SELFE described the mechanical classes at present in operation at the School of Arts, and urged the necessity for the extension of teaching in practical science throughout the colony.

Mr. THOMAS stated that the additions to the School of Arts as shown in the plans submitted to the Minister would probably cost about £3000, and that the committee had now £1500 available for the proposed buildings.

Mr. ALDERSON urged that a special grant of £2000 should be placed on the further additional estimates, in order to enable the School of Arts to found a working men's college in the metropolis.

After making a number of inquiries respecting the working of the School of Arts, and as to the character of the proposed additions to the institution, Mr. SUTTOR requested that the proposals of the committee might be submitted in writing, and promised that their requests would receive the consideration of the Government.

The following memorandum respecting the imparting of technical scientific instruction, in connection with the mechanics' institutes of the colony, had been previously submitted by the Committee of the Sydney School of Arts for the information of the Minister:—"Mechanics' institutes are now established in nearly every important town of New South Wales, and the great majority of them possess substantial buildings and good libraries. From a recently published Parliamentary return, it appears that in the year 1874, the 68 schools of art of the colony had 6887 members, of whom 1981 were artizans and apprentices. The value of the property held by these institutions is now estimated at nearly £100,000. Very few lectures have been delivered in connection with mechanics' institutes, owing to the great difficulty of obtaining suitable lecturers. Evening classes were only in operation at twelve schools of art in 1874. It is now believed that mechanics' institutes should be enabled to better accomplish their original mission by the initiation of a general scheme of Government technical scientific instruction in connection with them. The total amount of the annual Government subsidy given to schools of arts in 1874 only amounted to £3102, which sum was divided amongst sixty-eight country institutions at the rate of £1 for every £2 paid as subscriptions by their members. The amount received in 1874 by the Sydney School of Arts, however, only amounted to £200 Government grant, against £1115 obtained from subscriptions of its members. The yearly receipts of nearly all these institutions have been found barely sufficient for the purposes of their libraries and reading-rooms, leaving no funds available for the payment of teachers or lecturers. On the passing of the Mining Act of 1874 it was considered advisable to endeavour to secure for schools of art the services of the lecturers referred to in its eighth clause, and a deputation from the committee of the metropolitan School of Arts waited upon the Government on the matter. As no school of mines has yet been formed, it is hoped that the mechanics' institutes of the colony may be allowed the instruction in geological, mineralogical, and chemical science provided for in the Mining Act. The classes of the Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts have for a great many years imparted instruction to a large number of students, and the committee are now extending its operations by forming, in connection with it, a working-men's college for training in technical science the artizans and apprentices of the city. Being centrally situated, and having already an excellent circulating and reference library, elementary classes and apparatus, it is believed that with the increased accommodation about to be erected this institution will be found to be the most suitable place in the metropolis for imparting popular scientific instruction. In order to ascertain the views of the artizans of the city on the question of technical education, a sub-committee of the Sydney Mechanics' Institute some months since had several conferences with the Trades and Labour Council of New South Wales and the Engineering Association, and both these bodies expressed themselves highly favourable to the formation of a working men's college in affiliation with the Sydney School of Arts. It is hoped, therefore, that in any scheme for diffusing a knowledge of technical science throughout New South Wales the claims of the various mechanics' schools of art of the colony may receive favourable consideration at the hands of the Government."

RANDWICK DESTITUTE CHILDREN'S ASYLUM.

AN adjourned special meeting, to consider the financial condition of the institution and the appointment of a secretary, was held yesterday afternoon, at the Board-room of the Sydney Infirmary. The chair was occupied by the President, Sir E. Deas-Thomson, and there were also present the Rev. Canon Stephen, Rev. J. Milne, and Messrs. Wise, Hills, Hanson, Josephson, Alderson, Butchart, Hurley, Crane, Hughes, Hebblewhite, Watkins, Raphael, Cane, Davies, and Woods.

THE FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE INSTITUTION.

The CHAIRMAN referred to the objects of the meeting, and called upon the hon. treasurer to give the meeting the result of the inspection of the accounts.

Mr. PEARCE proceeded to read the final report of Mr. Lester, the accountant employed to go over the books of the institution up to the end of the year. The books showed assets amounting to £3456 14s. 7d.; and with this the other side of the account up to the same date exactly tallied with the exception of a sum of £4 10s. 4d.; the origin of which sum the accountant had not been able to trace.

Mr. HILLS thought that this small sum of £4 10s. 4d. would be explained and accounted for by recognising it as the premium upon Mr. Campbell's debenture of £100.

Mr. PEARCE said that with the exception of the small sum which he had named, the books had been found by the accountant to be correct. There was a sum of £1486 12s. 9d. which had not yet been received from Government for maintenance.

The CHAIRMAN said that he wished to know shortly what was the actual state of accounts with regard to assets and liabilities.

Mr. PEARCE said that he had caused this account to be made up to the 31st of December last. On the 31st of December, 1876, the institution had an overdraft at the bank amounting to £1377 1s. 10d. On the other side the Government owed £1486 12s. 9d.—this being the difference between the actual cost of maintenance of the children and the amount which the Government had paid them. This was the state of accounts up to the 30th of April last. The liabilities amounted to £3090 9s. 11d. The other side of the account to same date showed assets receipts, and what they were entitled to receive—£3067 10s. 3d., showing a debtor balance if this had been paid amounting to only £22 9s. 8d. (Hear, hear.)

The CHAIRMAN: This is very much better than I had expected.

Mr. PEARCE: I have yet to read something else.

The CHAIRMAN: I am always afraid of these afterclaps.

Mr. PEARCE: If the Government paid what they owed to date, there would be a balance of £23 4s. 6d. He must congratulate the Board on the state of affairs.

The CHAIRMAN: What is the interest payable on the bank overdraft.

Mr. PEARCE: 7 per cent.

The CHAIRMAN: It should be shown to the Government that this sum payable for interest would be saved if the Government paid what it owed.

Mr. PEARCE: Originally the bank wished to have 8 per cent.

The CHAIRMAN thought the best thing to do was to make a representation to the Government as to the state of affairs. He presumed that the amounts of the charges for maintenance had been voted by the Assembly.

Mr. PEARCE said that there had been an omission in the charges on account of children for whose support in the institution the Government were liable. There had been thirty-one children who had not been so charged for a period of five months. In all there were fifty-six children with regard to whom no account had been rendered to the Government. This had been the fault of the accountant in not seeing that these children were charged.

Mr. WISE: Query?

Mr. PEARCE: Why query?

Mr. WISE: Because it was the duty of the superintendent to make a note of the children who were chargeable to the Government, and to convey the information to the accountant.

The CHAIRMAN: There is no doubt but we shall recover from the Government the sum due for the maintenance of these children.

Mr. PEARCE said he intended, with the permission of the meeting, to make application to the Government for the whole of the money which it owed for maintenance.

The CHAIRMAN wished to know whether the Parliament had voted the money? Unless it had been voted they would not be able to get it.

Mr. PEARCE said that he thought that the sum had been passed, but was not in the Appropriation Bill.

Mr. WISE said that it was in the Appropriation Act for last year.

The CHAIRMAN proposed a resolution representing to the Government the state of the accounts, and asking for the payment of the money in which it stood indebted to the institution.

Canon STEPHEN seconded the resolution, and said that he wished to ask their hon. treasurer a question. He wished to know whether the result of this financial investigation would lead to a belief that the probable income for the remainder of the year would meet the probable expenditure?

Mr. PEARCE: Certainly not.

Canon STEPHEN: When Mr. Allen had moved for an investigation of the accounts his desire was, as he had expressed it, to know how we were to get the means of carrying on the institution in the future. We were fast becoming a Government-supported institution. The public subscriptions, which had greatly fallen off, were once about £2000 per annum.

Mr. WISE: More than that.

Mr. PEARCE said that the expenditure for the year would include in round numbers a sum of £1000 to obtain an additional supply of water and to carry out the improvements recommended both by their own commission and that of the Government. And if the Government also gave them the £1000, he believed they would be able to get on, and would not require to call upon it for any further assistance.

The CHAIRMAN: Can you, Mr. treasurer, tell me the amount of the falling off in the subscriptions?

Mr. PEARCE said that it had been very great indeed; and that last year the subscriptions had been much behind the amounts received during previous years from the public.

Mr. J. G. RAPHAEL, who said that the importance of the business had drawn him, weak as he was, from his home, referred to a previous occasion in the history of the institution when it was hard up for funds; and the question was also asked, what are the probabilities of our getting this money we require? He suggested that a general appeal be made to the people of New South Wales for aid. He believed that the cause of the falling off in the subscriptions of the public had been the disagreements and bickerings among the directors themselves. The directors should forget all those dissensions, and throw them aside for ever and unite in an appeal to the public, aided by their own subscriptions. He should move that such an appeal be made to the public for aid.

Canon STEPHEN signified his willingness to second Mr. Raphael's motion. A specific question had been put to the treasurer, which he had not answered; and in asking this question his object had been akin to that of Mr. Raphael in moving the resolution for an appeal to the public.

Mr. PEARCE said that he had been asked whether the funds coming in for the present year would be sufficient to discharge their debts? He answered that they would not under the present circumstances. The house committee had very seriously considered this matter, and had proposed to make reductions in the expenditure and to make some provision for a better canvassing for funds. If the house committee were permitted to carry out their plans we should not have to go to the Government to help us.

The CHAIRMAN: This is a matter, I think, for the Board to consider, and not for the house committee. (Hear, hear.)

Canon STEPHEN said that he thought that it would be better to have a small committee to consider this matter. Mr. Raphael had agreed that the resolution which he had proposed should take in another matter—that of an inquiry into the prospective financial condition and organization of the institution. We had guiltily and needlessly allowed this institution to sink in popular estimation. (Hear hear.) While misstatements had been made in Parliament and in the public prints with reference to this institution and its management, we had stood by quietly and made no attempt to controvert them. Just as a snowball gathered more force and weight as it went along; so did misstatements, if allowed to pass uncontradicted. Two statements had been made the other night in the Legislative Assembly by the member for the Upper Hunter: statements that were utterly untrue on the face of them, but which would go all over the country, and would satisfy those who were inclined to be stingy that they should not subscribe to the institution. A good deal had been said, too, about persons quarrelling among themselves at the meetings of the house committee. It was a known fact that for the last five years no clergyman had been on the house committee. It had also been asserted that there had been disputes about the baptizing of the children. With regard to the disputes at these Board meetings, and whatever they had been, he did not think they had been among the clergymen. They had regretted them, and had been working together earnestly for the benefit of the institution. He thought that they had to thank the reporters for the correctness of their reports; but a newspaper report of the mere words used could not convey the tone in which they were uttered, which to his knowledge had often not been that of anger or ill-feeling. Words on which the public would put the interpretation that they had been uttered in the heat of temper, had been spoken with a smile on the face. The house committee had been doing their very best to remedy the evils which had existed in the institution; and it was now, through the reforms effected, in excellent order. If those gentlemen who had abused the institution, as now conducted, would pay it a visit, and go over it, they would change their minds. He thought that we should have a committee to draw up a statement to show in what respects the institution had been maligned, the reforms that had been effected, and in what excellent order the institution was at the present time. He should move, "That a sub-committee of the Board, consisting of Messrs. Raphael, Hanson, Hills, Butchart, Pearce, Cane, and the mover, be appointed to inquire into the financial condition of the institution, and to report on the measure that they may deem necessary and expedient to place it on a satisfactory basis."

The Hon. G. ALLEN, who had but recently entered the Board room, said that he had heard a statement to-day with regard to the children in the institution, with a great deal of sorrow; but he could not at the same time bring himself to believe that it was true. But he had been unable to keep the matter in his own bosom, and had determined to make it known to the directors. [Mr. Allen here referred to certain alleged filthy habits on the part of the children in the dormitories.]

Mr. DAVIES said that this same statement had been made in the Legislative Assembly by Mr. M'Elhone, who said that Mr. A. Stuart was his informant. He (Mr. Davies) spoke to Mr. Stuart on the subject, and Mr. Stuart said that he never said such a thing. The Inspector of Charities, who was said by the member for the Upper Hunter to have been Mr. Stuart's informant, had not made any complaint to the house committee. So far as the management and cleanliness of the children were concerned, the institution never was in a better state than it was now. He would challenge the maligners of the institution to go and look at it for themselves. He thought that the charges that had been made should be refuted.

The CHAIRMAN thought that as charges had been made by a member of the Assembly which had gone forth to the public, an inquiry should be made by the house committee and a statement as to the truth published.

Canon STEPHEN said that he often saw the Inspector of Charities, who had made no statement to him of unclean habits of the children, as to which habits he was said by Mr. M'Elhone to be the authority.

Mr. ALLEN said that he had not believed the statement that had been made to him.

Mr. JOSEPHSON said that it appeared to him that the gentlemen of the Assembly were very forward to believe everything that might be said to them concerning the institution. They should themselves see into matters before they made the statements they did. He did not think that these charges were made without some purpose.

Mr. HANSON complained that the resolution evinced a want of confidence in the members of the house committee. It seemed like interfering with their management of the institution, which was excellent.

It was stated, in reply, that the resolution was merely to inquire into the finances, with which finances the house committee had nothing to do.

The resolution was put to the meeting, and carried unanimously.

Mr. JOSEPHSON gave notice of motion of his intention at next Board meeting to ask for information as to the falling off of public subscriptions.

Mr. HILLS said that the Board should give their opinion—as the inference from the reports of last meeting was that the accounts of Mr. Wailes, the late accountant, were confused—that they were now satisfied they were correct.

Mr. RAPHAEL supported the suggestion of Mr. Hills. It was only justice to an old servant of the institution like Mr. Wailes, that they should now say they were now satisfied with the state of the accounts.

It was decided that any such acknowledgment should now be left until after the report now called for should have been presented.

APPOINTMENT OF SECRETARY.

A secretary had been advertised for, for which a list of forty-five applicants was placed before the meeting. These applicants were outside the Board room waiting to be personally questioned if that were thought necessary, and to know the result of the Board's decision.

After an animated discussion as to whether or not, considering the financial state of the institution, a secretary should now be appointed, it was decided on the motion of Mr. DAVIES, M.L.A., seconded by Mr. RAPHAEL,—"That the appointment of a paid secretary be postponed till the report of the sub-committee just proposed be received." The division was 9 to 7. The minority were of opinion that as a secretary was required, and the by-laws said they should have such an officer, they should proceed as already announced with the election of a secretary, and let the applicants who might be unsuccessful return to their homes.

The meeting then broke up.

ARCTIC WHEAT.—The Adelaide Register says:—We recently mentioned that Dr. Schomburgk (the Curator of the Botanic Gardens) had received a small quantity of the wheat which was found during the late Arctic expedition, under Captain Nares. The wheat had been left behind by a former American exploring party on a beach in the Arctic regions, and after having been exposed for five years to all the severity of the weather, where the temperature registered by Captain Nares's party was as low as 104 degrees, it was taken to England. Dr. Schomburgk sowed 300 grains of it in the Botanic Gardens, and in the usual time for wheat to germinate—nine days—30 blades of young corn have shown themselves above ground. The doctor says that wheat possesses the most wonderful vitality of any seed with which we are acquainted.

CHARGE OF ILLEGALLY USING A HORSE.—The Narrandera correspondent of the Wagga Express refers to a case of "illegally using," heard at the Police Court in that township on Thursday last. The facts as stated to us are as follow, and they indicate a decidedly hard case:—Mr. Allport, licensed surveyor, some time ago left his horses near Narrandera, and they were subsequently placed for agistment at Mr. Nash's selection, Gogeldrie. One day Mr. Hepburn, acting for Mr. Allport, who is in Melbourne, drove up to Nash's house and near the place saw one of the horses tied up to a tree, and ready harnessed for a cart. A man named Connor was with the horse, and in reply to Mr. Hepburn's question said that he had no authority to work it. Upon this Mr. Hepburn took out a summons against Connor for illegally using the animal. The case came before the Bench, and was dismissed, as it was held that Mr. Hepburn had his remedy against Nash. This decision appears the stranger when the stereotype postscript to almost every agistment advertisement is remembered:—"Every care taken, but no responsibility." If Nash were proceeded against, he would undoubtedly shelter himself behind this. Considering the length to which "illegally using" is carried in many districts, it would be well if the utmost penalty were exacted in every clear case.

THE WOOLLAHRA AMATEUR DRAMATIC CLUB.—This Club gave a dramatic entertainment, at the Oddfellows' Hall, on Tuesday evening last, under the patronage and in the presence of the Mayor and Aldermen. The pieces produced were the "Chimney Corner," and for an afterpiece "Nan the Good-for-Nothing." About 250 persons were present.

THE ENTERTAINMENTS.—There is nothing fresh to notice as to entertainments last night. At both theatres there were large audiences, the play at the Theatre Royal being "Marie Antoinette" and at the Victoria "Marie Stuart." Beaheider's Diorama, Spencer's Polytechnic, and the Tycoon Troupe had their usual fair share of patronage.

THE RUSSIAN SQUADRON IN THE PACIFIC.—The Times Parliamentary report of the 21st February contains the following with the reference to the Russian squadron at San Francisco:—"Captain Pim inquired of the First Lord of the Admiralty whether his attention had been drawn to the following statement in the Times of the 1st of February last:—'Russian Ships of War.—"A.M." sends us a note, dated January 9, received by him from San Francisco on Wednesday morning:—"There is a small fleet of Russian corvettes in the bay here. They are waiting for English vessels which come here for wheat in the event of a European war. I think they have thirteen men-of-war."' Whether it was true, as stated by the Globe of the 13th of January, that 'to oppose eleven Russian vessels England had but seven ships in the Pacific, carrying but 56 guns.' And further, whether the statement in the Globe of the 6th of February was true to the effect that 'should England side with Turkey this Russian squadron will be conveniently near to Esquimalt, the British North Pacific Naval Station, which is comparatively unprotected, and contains an immense quantity of naval stores and ammunition.' Mr. Hunt: My information does not agree with that quoted by the hon. and gallant member. (Laughter.) It is to the effect that on the 24th of January there was at San Francisco a Russian squadron, consisting of one corvette, two gun vessels, and three gunboats. (Laughter.) The hon. and gallant member seems by his questions to anticipate an outbreak of war between this country and Russia. That is an anticipation in which I do not share, our relations with that Empire being of a friendly character. Should, however, British interests be threatened from any quarter in any part of the globe, I hope the House may rely upon her Majesty's Government taking proper steps to afford them protection. (Loud cheers.)"

The Cherwell, from London, with general merchandise valued at £42,600, and the R. M. S. Somerset, from Singapore, with rice, hemp, and sundries, arrived this morning.

An average number of sales were reported in the Stock and Share market during the past week. For bank shares the demand was fairly active, and a good number changed hands. City rose to 9½, sales; 9⅝ asked. 96½ was declined for Commercial; holders require 98. Joint Stock fell 1s. 6d., but advanced again to 13¼. Mercantile steady at 7. National of Queensland were done at £5 18s. 6d. on Monday and Tuesday; sellers now at 6. New South Wales fell from 50¾ to 50½, closing with sellers at the latter. New Zealand closed at 2s. 6d. advance on opening price. Union are inquired for at 60; holders firm at 62. The only Government securities offered were New South Wales inscribed stock at 96, and New Zealand fives at par. These are not in favour with investors, and a considerably higher price proportionately would be paid for New South Wales fives. A. S. N. Co.'s sixes, having nine years' currency, brought 103½, and were the only sales of debentures. Insurance shares remain dull of sale. General are held for 50s., and New South Wales 35s.; prices beyond buyers' ideas. Mutual were done to-day at 4s. 7d. Pacific and United are lower; the former sold at 27s. 6d. and offered at 3d. less; the latter fell to 20s., sales. In steam we note an upward movement in Australasian, the market having been cleared at 18½. Hunter River brought 6½. Illawarra unchanged. Mining shares were not dealt in to any extent. Transactions in coal limited to Wallsend at 16½. Waratah wanted at 9¾, held for 10½. Peak Downs Copper sold at 9s. to 9s. 3d. a few days since, but have had no sales since. Krohmann's Gold have had a sharp rise, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d. paid this morning. Carroll-Beard's realised 1s. 9d. Star of Peace are wanted at 5s. 6d.

The course of sales has been :—City Bank, £9 6s. 9d., £9 8s. 6d., 9½. Joint Stock, £13 16s., 13¼. Mercantile, 7. National of Queensland, £5 18s. 6d. New South Wales, 50¾, 50½. New Zealand, 20¾, 21. The Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company (limited) have received the following telegram from Helmuth Schwartze and Co., dated London, 23rd May :—"Lately telegraphed improvements not maintained; wool market is lower; prices are irregular; wool trade is much affected by present state of politics in France."

The advanced rates ruling for tallow at last week's sales were scarcely maintained at those held to-day. The absence of buyers of shipping parcels may be accounted for by the scarcity of tonnage and high freights required for dead weight to London. Though small lots of candle sorts sold fairly, a considerable portion of the catalogues were bought in. There was a good attendance of tanners and buyers of hides, who bought readily at late rates for all descriptions, except light and inferior, which were dull of sale. Catalogues were submitted by Messrs. Mort and Co.; Harrison, Jones, and Devlin; Maiden, Hill, and Clark; Mr. Bridge and Mr. Barker, who sold best heavy hides at 4½d. to 5⅜d.; medium, 3¾d. to 4⅜d.; butchers', 4½d. to 4⅝d.; light and dry, 4d. to 5d.; inferior, 3d. to 3⅝d. Calfskins, 1s. 6d. to 3s. 11d.; yearlings, 3s. to 8s. 3d.; kangaroo, 13d. to 2s. 6d.; horse, 8s. 6d. Mutton tallow, £36 10s. to £38; best beef, £35 to £36; medium, £33 to £34 10s.; mixed station and inferior, £24 10s. to £33 10s. Shankbones, £3 to £12; horns, 8s. 6d. to 30s.

Since the arrival of the Californian mail at Auckland was notified, there has been less disposition to do business in the Import markets. News per Suez Mail, via Adelaide, came to hand on Thursday, and although the total values of the month's exports to all the colonies exhibit a decrease, there does not appear to be any falling off in the principal shipments, drapery excepted. We apprehend that when the details are received it will be found that to this class of goods is due the £36,000 which forms the difference of value between the exports to Sydney for the month ending 21st February, and that ending 21st March.

The alteration in prices in our market have been very few this week. Speculation has ceased, and holders of goods that have risen lately are waiting for buyers to accustom themselves to the altered position of the markets. Adelaide shippers still retain command of the breadstuffs market, and that prices have not advanced higher is not due to any lack of effort on their part. If, as some recently published statistics show, there is a surplus of over 50,000 tons yet to be exported from South Australia, it is difficult to account for the extreme prices asked. Had there been a scarcity, so as to call for foreign supplies, it would be a different matter. £18 10s. to £20 is ruling for flour, 7s. 6d. for Tasmanian and 8s. 6d. for Adelaide wheat. The price of the latter is now 3s. per bushel more than it was this time last year, 4s. 6d. more than in May, 1875, and we have to go back some ten years to find anything like similar quotations ruling at this period of the year to those now current. Building materials move slowly at previous rates. There is a moderate sale for candles at 10¼d. to 10½d. for best, excluding D. R. J. Coffee quiet, no improvement noticed. Chicory has been sold at 3d. Dried fruits have a slow sale. Currants, on the spot and to arrive, have been quitted at 6d. Several sales of caustic soda were made at £17 10s. Crystals firm at £8 10s. Blasting powder scarce and nominal. Fish steady; salmon, ling, and white herrings very salable. In groceries and oilmen's stores small sales are being made at late rates. Some outside lots of Tasmanian hops having been cleared out at 1s. 7d. to 1s. 8d., the principal holders now ask 1s. 9d. for new. English of '76 are quiet at up to 2s.; malt flat, 9s. 3d. asked. The liquor market is without animation. Brandies quiet; 7s. to 7s. 6d. quoted for good second brands, 9s. to 9s. 3d. for best bulk, and 30s. 6d. to 32s. for case. Bulk ale is nominal; bottled in moderate demand at up to 11s. 3d. In bottled stout we hear of sales of Dagger at 9s. to 9s. 3d. Rum has good trade inquiry at 3s. 10½d. to 4s. 3d. for imported; 2s. 7d. to 2s. 8d. for Queensland. Metals quiet; galvanized iron, 10s. to 20s. lower. A slight decline in kerosene, and an improving tendency in castor, are the only change in oils. The former offered at 2s. 4½d., the latter held for 4s. 6d. in bond. There is nothing fresh to remark about rice. Sugars firm, brewing sorts becoming scarce and likely to go higher. The tea market is very weak, late sales having almost stocked the trade sufficiently to carry on until the new crop arrives. Melbourne bonded stock returns show a very large quantity still on hand there from last year. Woolpacks and other jute goods in request; 3s. 6d. obtained for woolpacks, 10s. 6d. to 10s. 9d. for cornsacks.

The Melbourne Argus of Wednesday says :—

In the import market general business is dull, a circumstance that is all the more apparent now that the speculative feeling which has been so active of late in the several specialities which have been in favour has died away. The day's trade, however, shows that one of a steadier though less excited character is springing up in its place. Breadstuffs have had more attention, and considerable business is reported in flour. Under the hammer this forenoon about 90 tons were quitted at £17 net, and the acceptance of this figure has had the effect of at once drawing out the larger buyers, who cleared off all lots offering to the extent of 150 tons additional; and there are still buyers of more at the price. Small bakers' parcels have been sold at £17 2s 6d to £17 5s. Wheat is salable at 7s 6d for prime, and business is reported at the price. New Zealand wheat was sold publicly at 5s 8d. Feeding grains are going off quietly. In oats we hear of sales privately at 3s 6d in bond for Riverina, while 4s duty paid was realised for good feed. Publicly 5300 bushels were cleared off in the morning at 4s for good New Zealand feeding, and 3s 9d for common, while inferior Tasmanian were placed at 3s 4½d to 3s 7½d. Maize is now selling at 4s 1d for ordinary requirements; but holders do not care to go lower, offers for parcels at less money having been refused. Sugars are decidedly better, though we are unable to report any great amount of business, but as much as £33 15s was offered publicly for fine whites, being a good advance on last week's quotations. Privately, a line of 600 bags fine brewing was quitted at £37, and a parcel of 300 bags fine whites was taken up at a full price. A London telegram received this morning, dated 20th instant, fully confirms the advance reported in the stable in the home market. An advance of 30s per ton is advised for the month on No. 14 D.S., the quotation at date being £33 afloat—a price which was within 25s of the highest quotation reached when the excitement was at its height. A line of 200 hogsheads golden syrup has changed hands on private terms. The auction sale of Patna rice attracted considerable attention from the trade. 100 tons were offered, but the auctioneer not succeeding in getting a satisfactory bid from the box, the whole was passed in, but afterwards the entire parcel was taken up at an advance on the price offered publicly, and about 75 tons more have also been quitted. This low price, however, has had the effect of drawing out buyers, and the probability is that large sales will now be effected, as transactions are pending. Meantime £15 to £16 10s, according to quantity, has since been asked for trade parcels in bond.

THE BLOOD being the source from which our systems are built-up, and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, it is important that it should be kept pure.
CURE OF RHEUMATIC GOUT.
July 12, 1876.
Mr. John Walton, of Dogdike, near Boston, writes: "I am 64 years of age, and have just been cured by Clarke's world-famed Blood Mixture of a dreadful attack of rheumatic gout, which had confined me to my bed for eighteen weeks.

CURE OF A BAD LEG.
"5, Chester Bridge, Crewe, June 12, 1876.
"Sir,—I have received the following from one of my numerous customers for your justly-celebrated 'Blood Mixture.' You are at liberty to publish it.—Yours, truly,
"E. BOOTE, Chemist.
"To Mr. F. J. Clarke"
"3, Liverpool-terrace, Crewe, June 10, 1876.
"Mr. Booth.—Dear Sir,—I have for a long time suffered with a bad leg—the inflammation extending from the knee to the toes—which was rapidly breaking up my constitution. As a last resort I obtained from you a small bottle of 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and experienced so much relief from it that I persevered, and seven (7) small bottles cured me. I have recommended it to several of my friends, who are now improving rapidly under its use.—Yours truly,
"HENRY DAVIES, Engine-fitter, Crewe Works."

CURE OF DROPSY.
"Gomersal, Leeds, September 4.

WONDERFUL CURE OF ULCERATED SORE LEGS OF 18 YEARS' STANDING.
Messrs. C. Mumby and Company, Pharmaceutical Chemists, Gosport, writes as follows :—
"Sir,—We have received the enclosed testimonial, and have much pleasure in forwarding it to you. As he obtained the medicine from us, we can vouch for the truth of his statement."
"27th February, 1875.
"I, Charles Luker, keeper of the Royal Engineers' Office at Gosport, having had ulcerated sore legs for the last 18 years, which broke out while stationed at the Cape of Good Hope, since my return to England I have tried everything in the way of patent medicines I could hear of, and have had the best advice, both in Government and private hospitals, but obtained no permanent relief; on hearing, three months ago, of your medicines, I was induced to try them, and, wonderful to relate, after having taken one large bottle of Blood Mixture, and applied two 4s 6d pots of your Miraculous Salve, my legs are perfectly healed.
"CHAS. LUKER, late Sergeant R. Engineers.
"Witness.—W. J. Sparrow.
"To Mr. F. J. Clarke, Lincoln."
SKIN DISEASES, eruptions, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, boils, carbuncles, ringworms, scald heads, sore eyes, erysipelas, itch, scurfs, discolourations of the skin, humours and diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed medicine.
IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL.—Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is sold in bottles, 2s 6d each, and in cases containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MAY 25.

SITTINGS FOR CAUSES.

BANCO COURT.

BEFORE his Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.

LAING AND OTHERS V. BAIN AND OTHERS.

Jury: Messrs. Thomas Lawless, Gustave Wangenheim, William Stephens, and John Falconer.

Mr. M. H. Stephen and Sir George Innes, instructed by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Want, for the plaintiffs; Mr. Butler, Q.C., and Dr. Donovan, instructed by Mr. R. B. Smith, for the defendants.

This was an action of ejectment to recover possession of 2560 acres of land, known as Redbank, on the river Hastings. The plaintiffs were persons representing the original grantees. Their legal title to the property was admitted. Neither the original grantees nor any persons claiming under them were ever in possession of the land. Major Mitchell had been in possession, and had occupied it as a residence, but the grant was not issued in his lifetime, and when issued was to his representatives. The action was brought in February, 1874, and was tried in May and August, 1875, before Mr. Justice Faucett, when a verdict was returned for the plaintiffs. In March, 1876, the full Court set that verdict aside on the ground of misdirection, and granted a new trial. The action was again tried before Mr. Justice Faucett in November, 1876, when a verdict was returned for the defendants. In March last the full Court set aside that verdict on the ground that it was against the evidence, and granted a new trial, which commenced on Monday and was continued on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The facts of the case were, at the time of the former trials, fully reported.

James Worral, now dead, through whom the defendants claimed, was a shingle-splitter; before 1852 he used to live at Rosewood, some little distance, and across the river, from Redbank. About 1852, the defendants' evidence showed, Worrall moved to Redbank, built a hut, enclosed a piece of land for a garden, and, with a few head of cattle, occupied the land. His wife and family were with him. Over the estate he followed his occupation, felling trees where most convenient. He also cultivated some few acres of the land and sowed it with corn. Before Worrall went on to the estate a Mr. Peudrey ran a fence across Redbank and the adjoining estates, so as to enclose a paddock; that fence, however, was in a very dilapidated condition, and in parts altogether down when Worrall first occupied.

The plaintiffs' case, in reply, was that Worrall did no act showing that he intended to take possession till after 1854, or less than 20 years before the commencement of the action. Till after that date he roamed over the estate, in common with those adjoining, as a shingle-splitter, and for the sake of that temporary occupation he put up a few sheets of bark as a protection from the weather. That occasionally his wife and children visited him, as they lived not far distant.

After counsels' addresses, his Honor summed up the evidence and directed the jury. The plaintiffs' legal title to the land was unquestionable — that was admitted by the defendants, who, in answer, set up a title by possession—in other words, on their behalf it had been contended that the plaintiffs were barred from recovering possession of the land by the Statute of Limitations, as they had been out of possession for more than twenty years. The action was commenced on the 10th of February, 1874. Not any of the plaintiffs had ever been in possession; with the exception of one, they were all resident out of the colony. To entitle the defendants to succeed, they would have to show that some person, not claiming title from the plaintiffs, or their predecessors, was in possession of the whole of the land with an intention of occupying it, prior to the 10th of February, 1854. If the evidence showed that a portion of the land was so occupied prior to that date, for that portion the defendants were entitled to succeed. The plaintiffs were entitled to recover the land or such portion of it as no one was shown to be in possession of prior to the 18th February, 1854. On behalf of the defendants three points had been raised (1.) That in 1849, or 1850, Worrall was in occupation of the land and had a hut on a portion of it, called Worrall's Flat. That he lived there with his wife and children, cultivated a small garden, and had one or two cows there depasturing; also, there was some evidence that Worrall warned off some person from cutting timber off the estate. If the jury were of opinion that Worrall was then in possession, and that his possession extended to the whole of the estate of 2560 acres, the defendants were entitled to succeed. (2.) In 1851, 1852, or 1853, Worrall went to live near the homestead, close to the river. He occupied a hut inside an enclosure of about 80 acres, some of which he cultivated and sowed with maize; other portions he depastured with cattle; the fence was originally one of three rails, which from time to time Worrall repaired with saplings. (3.) The defendants also relied on a possession of a Mr. Tendrey, of Messrs. Tendrey and Taylor, the owners of the adjacent estate, called Greenbourne. Without respect to any boundaries, that gentleman ran a fence across Redbank for convenience in mustering stock and for other purposes, but not with the intention of occupying. The fence was so used for one year, and by other persons afterwards. Acts like those did not amount to such an occupation as would oust the plaintiffs. Was there a possession by any person before the 10th February, 1854? Was there such a possession as would make the Statute of Limitations operate? The possession would have to be a holding dominion over the land. Visiting the land on a fishing or shooting or picnicking excursion of any kind would not be sufficient. A person riding over a track of land a number of times with horses a few, or many, would not perform any act of possession. A person who was in the habit of rowing about the banks of a river on the look-out for and selecting suitable trees for splitting into shingles, staves, or rails would not be in any better position. Even if he was to put up a wigwam or gunyah where good trees were plentiful and there stay till the timber was felled, he would not possess that land so as to oust the true owners. The possession must be with intention of occupying the land. Merely erecting a fence for the sake of using the land as a mustering ground was only an act of trespass, and those who used the land for such a purpose were at the most only trespassers. In so doing, no act of dominion would be exercised. The intention of anyone entering on to another person's land must be ascertained—that intention could only be judged of by what was said and by what was done; to ascertain a person's intention his acts would be of the greatest importance. Apply that definition of possession to the facts of the present case. Some three witnesses saw Worrall at the place called Worrall's Flat, about four miles back from the river in 1847 or 1848. In those years Worrall was the lessee of five acres of land, which he held on a clearing lease, on the Rosewood Estate; there his wife and family resided; and they were still there in 1854, according to the evidence of a witness, who lived at Rosewood in 1848, and, having left, returned in 1851. Worrall was then in possession of another portion of Rosewood, transferred to him from one Palmer. That lease expired in 1855, when Worrall, with his wife, family, and stock removed to Redbank. That was proved by a large number of intelligent and respectable witnesses. [His Honor was much struck with the large number of intelligent and respectable witnesses called on each side; it spoke well for the district.] It appeared that Worrall never gave up possession of the land at Rosewood till 1855. The defendants' case was that contemporaneously with that occupation Worrall, who was a small farmer and a shingle splitter, also occupied Redbank, by first living at Worrall's Flat, and afterwards in the enclosure near the river. The jury would have to consider if the witnesses were correct as to their dates, or did Worrall only stay at the flat or Redbank so long as it was convenient and necessary for him to do so while following his occupation of a splitter and timber cutter? As to the occupation of Worrall of the enclosure near the homestead and river, it was stated by one witness that in 1853 he purchased corn from Worrall at Redbank which had grown there. He (Worrall) was living there in a hut, about which he had cultivation, and stock feeding. If that evidence was believed, Worrall was exercising dominion over the land, putting in a crop, was using the soil to the exclusion of all others. The plaintiffs' case was that Worrall was only there so as to be close to his work, and that he put up the gunyah or hut for a temporary purpose only. If the jury were satisfied that Worrall was in possession of the land enclosed prior to February 10th, 1854, as to that portion their verdict would be for the defendants. There was no evidence that the estate of Redbank was ever fenced in or that Worrall knew of the extent or boundaries. From the evidence, the jury would not be justified in finding against the plaintiffs for the whole of the land claimed. His HONOR then went through the evidence.

The jury retired at 11.45, and at 2.30 intimated that they were not likely to agree. The parties would not agree to take the verdict of the majority. The jury were accordingly locked up till sixteen minutes to 6 o'clock, when, by a majority, a verdict was given for the defendants as to the homestead paddock, i.e., the portion of land as it stood enclosed in 1861, in which the mansion (Lieutenant Mitchell's) and Worrall's hut stood. For the plaintiff as to the rest of the land claimed.

ROW V. RIESE.

Jury: Messrs. C. E. Wigzell, P. W. Carter, Henry Perkins, Thomas Hardy.

Mr. Butler, Q.C., and Mr. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Rolin and Salter, for the plaintiff. Mr. Darley and Mr. Davis, instructed by Mr. Evans, for the defendant.

Edward Row sued Louis Riese for that the plaintiff was entitled to the use and benefit of a trade mark, duly registered, to denote certain glycerine soap powder, manufactured and sold by the plaintiff, of which he sold large quantities. The defendant wrongfully and fraudulently, and against the will of the plaintiff, manufactured a large quantity of soap powder, and marked the packets and boxes containing the same with a mark closely resembling, and in imitation of, the trade mark of the plaintiff, and in order to cause it to be believed that the said soap powder was manufactured by the plaintiff; and the defendant wrongfully and fraudulently sold the said soap powder as and for soap powder manufactured by the plaintiff.

The plaintiff claimed £500, and an injunction.

The defendant pleaded (1), that the plaintiff was not entitled to use the trade mark as alleged; (2), not guilty.

Evidence was given for the plaintiff that after the defendant manufactured and made up soap powder, and marked it with a trade mark closely resembling his (the plaintiff's), the sale of that manufactured by the plaintiff greatly decreased.

Mr. Darley, for the defendant, contended, without calling evidence, that the trade mark of the defendant was not so similar to that of the plaintiff as to mislead the public.

After his HONOR summed up, a verdict was returned for the defendant.

MATRIMONIAL AND DIVORCE CAUSES COURT.

BEFORE his Honor Mr. Justice HARGRAVE.

BUCHANAN V. BUCHANAN.

On the motion of Mr. Manning, instructed by Mr. Norton, the following were the issues settled:—1. Marriage. 2. Adultery. The cause to be tried on affidavits; all the material witnesses to be present for cross-examination.

SIMS V. SIMS AND DAVIDSON.

On the motion of Mr. Cooper, instructed by Mr. T. J. Ryan, the following issues for trial were settled:—1. Marriage. 2. Adultery. The cause to be tried on affidavits; all the material witnesses to be present for cross-examination.

The two causes above mentioned are to be heard on the first divorce day after the July vacation.

RENNIE V. RENNIE.

On the motion of Mr. Bennett, instructed by Mr. Adams, this decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage, granted six months ago, was made absolute.

INSOLVENCY COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.

In the matter of Williams and Cohen, in which there was a certificate application last Tuesday, his Honor said that it was necessary that he should examine Thomas Hardy before coming to his decision, and he directed the issue of a summons terminable next Tuesday.

In the matter of James Erwin, a single meeting was postponed until Tuesday.

In the matter of Michael James Dempsey, a third meeting. Mr. A. P. Backhouse, instructed by Mr. William Smith, appeared for the insolvent. Debts proved: Robison, Brothers, £65 10s.; F. Lassetter and Co., £742 10s. 7d.; W. G. Boyle, £2 14s.; D. Shannon, £7 6s.; J. T. Jones, £6 8s.; J. Dempsey, £50, a further claim by Dempsey being held over for better particulars; A. Rogalsky, £20; R. Smith and Co., £154 7s. 3d.; Spain and Sly, £29 11s., subject to taxation. Three claims were held over for better particulars. The official assignee, for whom Mr. Smith (of Slade and Smith) appeared, submitted a report to the effect that the liabilities, as per schedule, amounted to £14,495 0s. 10d., and the assets to £14,238 18s. 10d. It was stated that £1616 had so far been collected. The official assignee had been exposed to several actions in his endeavours to administer the estate, and others were threatened from various claimants, and he requested a general direction ratifying his past acts and giving him full authority to act in the settlement of such actions. The insolvent had failed to give the official assignee satisfaction in administering the affairs of the estate. The meeting was adjourned until the 13th June.

In the matter of Hugh Mulligan, a third meeting. Debts proved: Bank of New South Wales, £385 6s.; Feaq and Co., £114 11s. 3d. No directions were given, and the meeting terminated.

In the matter of Michael Maney, a first meeting. No debts were proved and the meeting terminated.

In the matter of William Ringland, on the application of Mr. Dawson, instructed by Mr. Dawson, on the assurance that insolvent would not plead the statute of limitation in respect of any claims, his Honor granted the release of insolvent's estate from sequestration.

In the matter of William Henry Maguire, on the application of Mr. M'Carthy, his Honor directed that insolvent should pay £1 per month towards the liquidation of the claims of his creditors. Mr. Pennington appeared for the insolvent.

In the matter of Montague Levien Salamon, an adjourned examination meeting. Charles Wright, being examined by Mr. S. C. Brown on behalf of the official assignee, deposed that he was an importer of merchandise; he had some dealings with insolvent in December last about two shipments of furniture to arrive; the value of the furniture was to be taken at £576 3s. 4d.; if there was a surplus he was to divide it with Mr. Salamon; if a deficiency he was to share that; no commission was to be paid; he imported the furniture; Salamon told him a few days before his insolvency that there would be a surplus to divide; he never got an account sales from Salamon; he did not know exactly what the furniture realized; the sale took place in February, and about the 6th of that month he received from Salamons a promissory note of Samuels and Woods for £115 2s. 6d.; this was a firm which bought some of the furniture; he asked insolvent for a settlement of his bill; Salamon suggested giving him cash instead of a bill; insolvent did not wish to give a bill, and gave him a cheque on account; between the 8th and the 16th he waited on insolvent repeatedly and he got tired of calling, and insolvent then told him, after consulting with the bank, he would give him one or two promissory notes; Salamon gave him the bill he had spoken of before giving him any cash; he did not ask insolvent for cash before; he did not expect any cash; the promissory note of Samuels and Woods was made out in favour of himself; he did not give Mr. Holt any receipt that he was aware of. Edward B. Holt deposed that he was manager of the Bank of New Zealand in Sydney; he was also agent of the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company; he explained the position of the company and the authority under which he acted; the insolvent began to deal with the bank about the middle of 1875; the bank pass-book was entered up from August, 1876, when the current account began; in February, 1876, insolvent asked him to open credits for him in London; and at that time insolvent lodged £200 as collateral security for any indebtedness he might incur to the bank at any time; it was a verbal arrangement; insolvent could not have been indebted to the bank at that time; in May £20, and in September £35 were also handed over by insolvent to the bank as collateral security for his indebtedness accrued and to accrue; these three sums were kept in a separate account; he could not, without reference to the books, tell the names of all the ships by which goods were indented to insolvent or his various credits up to 1st January, 1877; on the 9th March insolvent had not fulfilled all his obligations; up to the 8th March all the bills or acceptances that had matured had been paid; on the 8th March last insolvent was liable on a bill for £488 4s. 1d.; also for a draft for £598 18s. 2d., due on the 14th March; he was also liable on the 9th May for £431 15s. 1d; on the 9th April for £598 1s. 3d. and £490 14s. 3d.; and on the 9th May for £208 2s. 9d.; these were all the bills that he was aware of without reference to his books; the bill of the 8th March for £488 4s. 1d. was an acceptance to the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company; it was drawn by that company and discounted by the bank for the company; the bill stood past due; the company had not taken it up; the bank would look to the drawer and acceptor—to both the company and Salamon—for the payment of the bill; he had sworn an affidavit in connection with that bill, but he could not tell exactly the terms of the affidavit; on account of that bill he had received £95 from insolvent and £50 16s. 9d., the proceeds of the sale of some furniture sent for sale to Messrs. Gilchrist, Stubbs, and Weston; the bill for £598 18s. 2d. was for payment made in London to J. Ratcliffe and Sons, at Mr. Salamon's request; the moneys deposited by him before referred to were security; the goods were sent out to this colony by Ratcliffe and Sons, on account of that money; the goods were all sold by Messrs. Gilchrist, Stubbs, and Weston, and realised £450 9s. 1d., leaving a deficiency of £148 9s. 1d; the bill of 9th May was drawn in London by the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, and accepted by Mr. Salamon here; the goods arriving on account of that bill were now being realised by Messrs. Cattell and Co.; the bill of 9th April was a draft under the credit established in London in favour of Jacob Montefiore; that had been paid by Montefiore and Montefiore, as well as the bill for £490 14s. 3d., and the remaining bill; the whole of the goods invoiced on the 14th March were placed in Gilchrist, Stubbs, and Weston's hands; the £488 bill had not been charged to the company in any of the bank's books; and it had been kept dishonoured in the bank; since the 9th March; as far as he could recollect, the affidavit he had sworn set forth the balance that was due to the Mercantile Loan Agency Company in that bill; he would not swear that it only related to that bill; he had not been advised that if he proved that claim against this estate he could not recover against the deposits made by the insolvent in the bank; on the 2nd January he got £50 from Mr. Salamon on account of the Mercantile Loan Company; no other money was deposited as security from Mr. Salamons for the Company; on 2nd January insolvent was liable to the bank in respect of the £488 and £431 bills; the Bank of New Zealand discounted those bills on the 3rd March; one of them had only six days to run; he kept a separate set of books on the Bank for the Mercantile Loan Company; the proceeds of the £488 and £431 bills were carried to the account of the company on the 3rd March; then he did not know that Mr. Salamon was in difficulties as a matter of fact; he had heard rumours that he was in difficulties; he had not spoken to Salamon about it at that time; he was not prevented from discounting the bills or paying insolvent's cheques by hearing the rumours; there were no other liabilities on the 1st of January except these two bills; on the 2nd January insolvent had a liability of £448 7s. in connection with an indent of goods which had since arrived, but were not yet disposed of; since the 2nd January he had not executed any further indents for insolvent; he did not think insolvent had asked him to do so; the moment the bank paid the money for indents in London the insolvent became liable; when insolvent gave him the £50 he stated that his engagements, past and present, were increasing, and that the £50 was paid on account of his liability; the company had no outstanding indent orders; none of Mr. Salamon's friends had promised to make up the balance of the £431 bill. The examination was adjourned until Thursday next.

SURRENDERS.

Samuel Lambert, of Tamworth, miner. Liabilities, £1942 7s. 10d., of which £831 9s. 4d. is secured. Assets, £3498 5s. 7d. Mr. Lyons, official assignee.

Edward Feirus, of Iluka, Clarence River, boarding-house keeper. Liabilities, £120 1s. 3d., of which £3 is secured. Assets, £4. Mr. Sandeman, official assignee.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE his Honor Mr. Judge DOWLING.

Some ca. sa. motions were disposed of.

BRAY V. TAYLER AND OTHERS.

Issue from the Supreme Court, in which the plaintiff sought to recover £100 damages from defendants, for not executing an order for drugs according to alleged agreement. The particulars of the case were laid before his Honor, and published on Monday last, when a question arose as to whether the defendants' alleged partners, who had been sued, were liable, there being no proof of partnership between them. This morning his Honor said:—This was an issue from the Supreme Court. The pleadings showed that four defendants had been sued, yet the proof was that the contract sued upon was made with the defendant Tayler alone. Upon this fact being proved, Mr. Simpson, for the plaintiff, claimed to have the misjoined defendants struck out. It was contended on the other side that I had no such power. I was inclined to think that I had similar power over the issue that a Supreme Court Judge had. I was not called upon to give a decision upon the point, as Mr. Simpson claimed a verdict for his client upon another ground. My right to amend his issue as proposed is worthy of further consideration whenever the point may arise. Since the argument took place I have been referred to the case of Remington v. Walker and Walker—Law Reports 7 Ex. 143—where it was expressly decided that a County Court Judge in England had the same powers of amending an issue sent to him from a superior Court as a Judge of that Court had. In the case cited too many defendants were sued. The County Court Judge, thinking he had no power to amend, refused to strike out the misjoined defendants, and in that respect the full Court held the County Judge was wrong. Mr. Simpson, however, claimed the verdict against the one defendant by virtue of the 19th section of the Absent Defendants Act. Again, it was contended that I could not do so under that Act. I have looked into that Act, and it seems clear that, when an issue is sent to a District Court Judge to try, he has for the time being similar powers over an issue as to amendment that a Judge of the Supreme Court has. I find a verdict for the plaintiff against the defendant Tayler alone, damages £31.

His Honor also gave judgment this morning in the case of W. G. Taylor v. H. Waddington, promissory note and interest, £42, by recording a verdict for the plaintiff.

A new trial in the case of Guest v. Anderson was refused.

In the case of Newell v. Buist, plaintiff claimed £15 10s. 6d. for loss on a quantity of tobacco sold him by defendant. Mr. Want appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Rogers for defendant. Evidence was elicited showing that defendant obtained the tobacco in question direct from the manufacturer to execute plaintiff's order, and with the intention of securing good quality. Plaintiff's witnesses proved, however, that it was unfit for ordinary use; and his Honor gave him a verdict for the amount claimed.

In the case of Hickey v. Wyllus, Mr. Want appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Greer for defendant. Plaintiff claimed £27 16s., rent for a house at Double Bay, but only got a verdict for £7.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE Messrs. Jolly and Reading.

Thirteen persons were fined for drunkenness.

Charged with having made use of indecent language, Susan Farrell was sentenced to pay 10s., or to be imprisoned four days; Mary Reilly, to pay 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days; and Anne Lee, to pay 40s., or to be imprisoned one month.

William Tupper, 15, charged with letting off crackers in Campbell-street, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of 10s., or to be imprisoned four days.

William Bathie was charged with stealing from the person. William Scott, assistant to E. Dewar, pawnbroker, deposed that on the evening of Saturday, the 12th of the present month, the prisoner offered in pledge the watch he (witness) now produced in court; he said that it was his own property, having purchased it three weeks previously; witness told him that, inasmuch as it answered the description of a watch which had been reported as stolen, he must detain it, and asked him to wait while he sent for a policeman; he went out before witness could do anything to detain him; witness reported the matter to the police. Detective Wilmot, on Thursday, the 17th, apprehended the prisoner; he denied having offered to pawn a watch. George Rashleigh deposed that the watch produced is his property, and is worth about £3; on the 6th May he was employed as a night watchman at the Argyle-street Bond; he sat down and had some conversation with another watchman, and fell off into a sleep; he could not have been more than about ten minutes asleep; soon after awaking he found that his watch, with hair guard and locket attached, had been taken, and from his trousers-pocket he missed a purse containing about 13s. in silver, some 'bus tickets, and three keys; had no knowledge of the prisoner. Committed for trial [illegible] the Quarter Sessions, and allowed bail for his appear[illegible]ment of S[illegible].

Before Mes[illegible] Framew[illegible]ale, Murray, and Ridge.

On the summonses pa[illegible] ex N[illegible]-three cases, of which five were not prosecuted. James [illegible]rdner and William Clancy, butchers, were fined 5s. each for slaughtering calves, not being a work of either necessity or charity, on the Lord's Day. Patrick Feeny was fined 10s., and Elizabeth Cole 40s., for using obscene language. Robert Murphy, Benjamin Borris, and William Bovis, were fined 10s. each, and Peter Peters was fined 20s., for keeping open house for the sale of liquor within the prohibited hours on Sunday. Matthew Poulon was fined 2s. 6d. for having been found conveying liquor from a public-house at an unlawful hour; and David Jones was fined 5s. for neglecting to keep a lamp alight and burning, as required by law. James Baker was fined 40s. for casting night-soil near to a public street or thoroughfare. Seventeen persons were fined in sums varying from 2s. 6d. to 10s. for offences against the Police and the Drunkards' Act.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—A colonial wine license was granted to Robert N. Miller. Joseph Tierney was allowed to remove his license from George-street to Riley-street. Four publicans' licenses were transferred—Joseph Tierney to Charles Harris, James M'Donald to James Cole, William H. Schroder to Patrick Fahey, and Philip Fitzpatrick to John Seage.

WATER POLICE COURT

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, with Messrs. C. Lester, Manning, Goodridge, Charlton, Smart, and Macmahon.

A number of drunkards were brought before the Court and severally fined.

Caroline York, for riotous behaviour, was fined 5s., with the alternative of two days' imprisonment.

John Ward, Eliza Colvin, and Thomas Rutherford were severally fined for conducting themselves in a drunk and disorderly manner in public places. The last-named prisoner was further fined in the sum of 20s., in default to go to gaol for seven days, for using obscene language in West-street.

William Brown, who was fined 10s. for being drunk and disorderly, was also charged with wilfully damaging a lamp to the amount of 5s., and was ordered to pay that sum; in default, to go to gaol for four days.

Edward O'Hara, for being drunk and disorderly, and for assaulting the apprehending constable, was sentenced to pay a fine of 30s., with the alternative of seven days' incarceration.

Henry Francis Lewis, for wife desertion, appeared before the Court in custody, and was ordered to pay the sum of 30s. per week for the support of his wife for twelve months.

John Flanagan, apprehended and charged with letting off fireworks in Oxford-street, was ordered to pay a fine of 20s.; in default, to be sent to gaol for seven days.

Alexander Smith, of unsound mind, was ordered to be sent to the Receiving-house for Lunatics.

Peter Meehan, for passing a forged cheque for £11, was committed to take his trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions.

SUMMONS SHEET.—James Gordon, for being drunk and disorderly, was fined 10s., and 4s. 10d. costs of Court, in default to go to gaol for four days; Michael Wynn, who was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Mandible, was ordered to pay a fine of 40s., together with 8s. costs of Court, and £2 2s. professional costs. The other cases were either withdrawn or dismissed.

Edward Howes, who appeared before the Court in custody, charged with stealing a basket of prawns, valued at 5s., the property of F. Christensen, was ordered to pay a penalty of 10s., in default to go to gaol for four days; and John O'Connor, who received the stolen basket, and who assaulted the constable who arrested him, was fined 20s., with 5s. costs.

Thomas M'Kay, charged with stealing the sum of 20s. from the person of Edward M'Hugh, was, after a prima facie case having been made out, committed for trial.

Eighteen cases for various breaches of the Metropolitan Transit Commissioners' by-laws, in which the informations were laid by inspector Oram, were heard and disposed of, Mr. George Merriman, solicitor, appearing to prosecute.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—The following publicans' licenses were transferred:—Horner's Hotel, Wynyard-square, from Eliza Horner to John F. Maloney; and the Cross Guns Hotel, Waverley, from John Tighe to Joseph Thompson.

CORONER'S COURT.

DEATH BY FALLING FROM A WINDOW.—Mr. Shiell, the City Coroner, held an inquest yesterday, at his office, Hyde Park, relative to the death of Harry Foote Rogers, aged 29 years, a member of the New South Wales Artillery, who died in the Infirmary on the 23rd instant from injuries received at the Ship Inn, Sussex-street, on the previous day. It appears that the deceased had slept at the public-house, and that in attempting to get out of the window during the night he fell about 28 feet into the yard, and lay on his back until next morning. Thomas Smith, cook of the Ship Inn, said that early on Wednesday morning, while going to the kitchen, he heard moaning and the cry of a man calling for assistance; he lit the gas, and discovered the deceased lying across the kitchen door, and unable to get up; with the assistance of another man witness lifted him, and he was then conveyed to the Infirmary in a cab; the place in which the man was found lying was that which he would naturally occupy, supposing he had fallen from the window above. Aubrey Beauclere, who occupied the same room with the deceased, said that he appeared to be excitable and under the influence of drink during the night when the accident occurred; witness took some beer and lemonade into the bedroom that night, and the deceased drank all the ale; there is only one window in the room, the sash of which was thrown up; the bed the deceased occupied was near this window; witness heard no disturbance during the night, and knew nothing of the accident until next morning. Irvine Gray, son of the landlord of the Ship Inn, deposed to having shown the deceased upstairs on Tuesday night into the room occupied by Beauclere; at half-past 12, when witness put out the light, both occupants of the room were asleep. Dr. Marsden, resident medical officer of the Infirmary, said that, on examining the deceased on his arrival at the institution, he found him almost pulseless, and evidently under the influence of liquor; there was a bruise on the forehead, and a fracture of the right arm, together with slighter bruises on other parts of the body; a post-mortem examination showed the cause of death to have been hemorrhage from rupture of the kidney, which was the result of violence. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

A Magnificent and Highly Improved GRAZING PROPERTY, equal to a Freehold.
BROCK and BROUGHTON are instructed by W. M. Wallis, Esq., to offer for Sale by private contract,
That magnificent property known as SANDIWELLS,
situated in the Lachlan District, about 12 miles west from YOUNG, and 21 miles from the MURRUMBURRAH RAILWAY STATION. The area is 6400 acres of undulating forest country, lightly timbered, and thickly grassed. The selections consist of 1600 acres, 3 years expired, and declarations made; all conditions fulfilled
1220 ditto, nearly 2 years expired
680 ditto, secured by improvements, and purchasable under the Improvement Act.
2900 ditto grazing area.
6400 acres, more or less.
The estimated capabilities are one sheep to the acre.
The whole property is securely fenced, and subdivided into seven paddocks, which are watered by seven large dams and a saline creek running through one of the paddocks. The Sandy Wells contain an unlimited supply of water in the driest season, and will water more than double the number of stock now on it. There is also a lucerne paddock of 15 acres, a good woolshed, drafting yards, men's huts, washpen with spouts, and sweathouse, with all conveniences for washing 10,000 sheep. At the homestead there is a good house of seven rooms, with handsome pisé front, containing four large and lofty rooms and hall, with wide verandah on three sides, roofed with iron; also, kitchen, servant's room, and store. There is a substantial 5-stall stable, with coachhouse, harness-room, hay-room, and loose box, all built of pisé.
Working plant, horses, &c.
This property is admirably adapted for a stud farm for any class of stock, and will be sold with the following sheep, viz.:—
About 3500 ewes, 4, 6, and 8 tooth
900 maiden ewes
600 mixed weaners
56 rams.
6056, more or less.
Terms easy.

SUBSTANTIAL CITY PROPERTY.
ALFRED-TERRACE,
KENT-STREET NORTH,
comprising SIX STONE HOUSES, fronting KENT-STREET, and THREE COTTAGES in the rear, yielding a permanent return of £335 per annum.

BOWDEN and MILLS have been instructed to sell by auction, at the Land Sale Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, May 31, at 11.30 prompt,
ALFRED-TERRACE, erected on a block of land having 78 feet 4 inches frontage to the west side of Kent-street, commencing about 39 feet from Miller's Road, and extending to a lane at the rear. The position is in the centre of a healthy and respectable neighbourhood, overlooking Darling Harbour, the North Shore, and the entrance to the Parramatta River. It is also in the immediate vicinity of the busiest part of this portion of the city.
The houses are two-story, with slated roofs, and parapet walls. The front is of cut stone, well-finished. The back and internal walls are of brick.
Present rental is low. They are always occupied. They were erected for the present proprietor, under the personal supervision of Mr. W. Bailey, builder, of Newtown, and completed in a thoroughly substantial manner.
At the rear are three cottages, overlooking the harbour, erected of stone, always let.
Persons in search of substantial property as an investment to insure a reasonable return, should secure this opportunity, being one that seldom offers.
Title, satisfactory.
Terms at sale.

THE NEW SUBURB OF FREEHOLD WATERLOO,
just beyond the Half-way House, fronting the main Botany Road, and extending back to the old Botany Road, including some fine elevated positions for building sites, having very extended views over the surrounding suburbs.
464 FEET FRONTAGE TO MAIN BOTANY ROAD
485 " " TO OLD BOTANY ROAD
3954 " " TO HIGH-STREET.
SALE OF THIS SUBDIVISION OF FREEHOLD WATERLOO,
on the Ground,
SATURDAY, MAY 26, AT 3.30 P.M.

BOWDEN and MILLS have received instructions to sell by public auction, on the ground, THIS DAY, 26th INSTANT, AT 3.30 SHARP,
THIS VALUABLE PROPERTY.
FREEHOLD WATERLOO is destined at an early date to be an important suburb, situate as it is in the midst of the manufacturing district of Waterloo and Botany; it is admirably suited to become the place of residence for those engaged at these places of business, and the main road frontages will be excellent sites for shops to those who wish to have a home of their own without paying either house or ground rent, securing the advantages of a freehold title.
The terms will be liberal, and free title deeds will be given.
Omnibuses will leave the auctioneers' office, Pitt-street, at 2.30 p.m., to convey intending purchasers to the ground. An omnibus will also leave the Tollbar, Waterloo, for the ground, at 3.15 p.m., for the convenience of residents in that suburb.
Lithographs are now ready for distribution.

THE VILLAGE OF WATSON'S BAY.
SALE OF FREEHOLD ALLOTMENTS.
On SATURDAY, June 2, at 3 p.m.

BOWDEN and MILLS are favoured with instructions from the proprietor to sell by auction, on the Ground, 61 allotments of land, in the celebrated village of Watson's Bay, comprising some of the choicest spots reserved from former sales.
In SECTION 4
are 27 lots: 1 to 13 having frontages to Cove-street of 33 feet by a depth of 80 feet; and lots 28 to 42 front a road to the beach from the fortifications, each 33 feet by a depth of 80 feet.
In SECTION 2
are 13 lots; 5 to 14 fronting Victoria-street: and lots 2, 3, and 4, fronting Pacific-street, various depths.
In SECTION 1
are 21 lots; on LAING'S POINT are lots 2, 3, and 4, with deep water frontages; and lots 9 to 26 have frontages to the fine sea beach of 33 feet.

In introducing the sale of this property, it must be regarded on the part of the auctioneers as unnecessary to attempt any adequate or comprehensive description of the innumerable advantages and attractions of this delightful place, so famous for salubrity and beauty. Perhaps no city in the world can boast, like Sydney, of such a delightful watering-place, so easily accessible to all its crowded inhabitants.
Every man who values the health of his family should purchase an allotment so situated, and erect his snug little cottage, to which, during the enervating heat of summer, he could send his wife and children to regain health and strength by the sea breezes and sea bathing.
Here, at the same moment, the eye can scan on one side the enchanting scenery of our unequalled harbour, and on the other the majestic South Pacific. Here the invalid can enjoy the advantages and quiet of a river-side abode, with the benefit of sea air and bathing.
All the charms of a country life can be insured without any of its drawbacks. An hour's drive on one of the prettiest roads in the colonies, or half an hour's trip by the steamer, is all that separates it from the conveniences attendant upon a city residence; whilst on the spot you feel that freedom from annoyance and cares of the city as if it were a hundred miles away. Nothing like ennui or weariness can there be felt—the invigorating freshness of the sea breezes, the constant stream of inward and outward shipping must pass before the gaze of the residents.
The convenience for bathing, fishing, boating, &c., are each of themselves attractions of no mean considerations, and to all these may be added the important fact that Watson's Bay must, from its unrivalled and peculiar position, continue to progress, but will never lose the beauties so liberally bestowed by nature.
Title satisfactory. Terms easy.
Lithographs can be had on application to the Auctioneers.

DARLINGHURST.
No. 23, WEST-STREET.
A comfortable Detached RESIDENCE, six rooms and passage, kitchen, pantry and store-room, bath-room, and wash-house.

BOWDEN and MILLS have been instructed to sell by auction, at the Land Sale Rooms, 154, Pitt-street, on THURSDAY, 31st May, at 11.30 prompt,
The detached cottage, No. 23, West-street, Darlinghurst, the second house south from Liverpool-street. The land has 42 feet frontage to the street. The cottage is built of brick on stone foundation, cemented walls, slated roof. On the ground floor are 4 good rooms and passage, with cedar staircase leading to 2 good upper rooms; a storeroom and pantry, verandah front and back. There is a passage on each side of the house, and a plot of garden ground in front. All the joiners' work inside of cedar; water laid on.
The position of this property is very healthy, and from the front there is a splendid view, extending over Woollahra. The omnibuses run on the Darlinghurst Road, to and from the city, within three minutes' walk of the door.
Title good. Terms easy.
Immediate possession can be given. The proprietor has refused several applications to rent it at 25s. per week
Open for inspection from 2 to 4 p.m. up to FRIDAY, 25th, after that on application to the Auctioneers.

AUCTIONEERS' NOTICE.
THE LAND AND PROPERTY SALE ROOMS, BELL'S-CHAMBERS, 175, PITT-STREET.

HARDIE and GORMAN, having secured a further LEASE of their LAND and PROPERTY SALE ROOMS, so centrally and so conveniently situated, SOLICIT a continuance of past favours, and respectfully intimate that having secured greater facilities under fresh arrangements, they are now prepared to undertake the sales at auction of LANDED and HOUSE PROPERTY, either at their Rooms or locally, on a scale much more in accordance with their business generally and in the interests of their CONSTITUENTS in particular.
Having determined to devote their WHOLE TIME as AUCTIONEERS to the disposal of HOUSE and LANDED PROPERTIES, either at auction or by private contract, PROPERTY OWNERS and TRUSTEES of HOUSE and LANDED ESTATES may rely upon having the VERY BEST and ENTIRE ATTENTION paid to their commands.
HARDIE and GORMAN,
Bell's-chambers.

CHIPPENDALE ESTATE.
A magnificent Block of Land, containing an area of 2 acres 2 roods 1½ perch, having the following frontages:—
315 feet to WATTLE-STREET
180 feet to SMITHERS-STREET
70 feet to LEVEY-STREET and about 700 feet to LEVEY-STREET NORTH;

ABERCROMBIE-STREET.

TORRENS' TITLE. LIBERAL TERMS.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions to sell by public auction at the SALE ROOMS, BELL'S-CHAMBERS, 175, PITT-STREET, at 11 o'clock on TUESDAY, 12th June,
the above described magnificent block of CITY LAND, which is now being subdivided into 31 BUILDING ALLOTMENTS.
PLAN and LITHOGRAPHS are in course of preparation. Further particulars will be duly published.
This is a very valuable block of CITY PROPERTY, and its prospective value cannot be fairly over estimated. It is surrounded by first-class estates, and is bounded by good streets, which necessarily give to it a very high value—in addition to which, the density of population in this locality allows of the auctioneers recommending the purchase, both to investors and speculators, either for BUSINESS purposes or for private residences. It is also very accessible to the main centre of our GREAT METROPOLIS, being only a few yards off that great main thoroughfare
PARRAMATTA-STREET,
along which street 'bus communication is both frequent and regular. Remembering the INDUSTRIES already established, and the growing population around WATTLE and ABERCROMBIE STREETS, this land must of necessity very largely increase in value, and ultimately become one of the BEST PAYING, SAFEST, and MOST PERMANENT INVESTMENTS.
Further particulars prior to the
DAY OF SALE,
TUESDAY, 12th JUNE.

TO INVESTORS, SPECULATORS, AND OTHERS.
A short distance over
THE BRIDGE, at
COOK'S RIVER.
Block of Land, containing an area of about 25 ACRES, subdivided into about 40 BUILDING BLOCKS,
each containing
ONE ACRE or HALF AN ACRE, with large frontages to the
NEW ROCKY POINT ROAD,
OLD ROCKY POINT ROAD,
and a
GOVERNMENT ROAD,
and adjoins the estate of — WENTWORTH, Esq., and others.

TORRENS' TITLE. TERMS AT SALE.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from S. H. Terry, Esq., M.L.A., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Bell's-chambers, 175, Pitt-street, at 11 o'clock on TUESDAY, 12th June,
All that magnificent block of land, situate a little beyond the COOK'S RIVER DAM, containing an area of 25 acres, and subdivided into 40 BLOCKS OF OVER HALF AN ACRE EACH.
The land is now being surveyed.
PLANS and LITHOGRAPHS are in course of preparation.
This property is well situated, and a convenient driving distance from the city. The views are very extensive and grand, overlooking COOK'S RIVER and BOTANY BAY. The proposed RAILWAY LINE will pass within a convenient distance, and must largely enhance the prospective value of this estate.
The AIR is salubrious, enjoying its natural pureness, and the DRIVES round and beyond the land are pretty and most enjoyable.
Further particulars will be duly published prior to the
DAY OF SALE,
TUESDAY, 12th June.

BANKSTOWN.
For Positive Sale,
A BAKEHOUSE and SHOP, &c., with about 1¼ acres of Land, situate on the main LIVERPOOL ROAD and next door to the POST-OFFICE at BANKSTOWN.
This is a good opportunity for an industrious person, especially as there is no baker in this locality, where a small but lucrative business might be carried on.
Also, for Sale,
A FARM of over 90 ACRES, with Homestead thereon, situate at BANKSTOWN, a short distance over the LIVERPOOL ROAD, and near to the ROOKWOOD STATION.
TITLE.—Apply to A. H. M'CULLOCH, Esq., Solicitor, 155, Pitt-street.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, 175, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 12th June, at 11 o'clock,
THE ABOVE VALUABLE PROPERTIES; PLAN of which can be seen at the Rooms of the Auctioneers.
Every information will be given to persons wishing to inspect, upon application at the POST-OFFICE, LIVERPOOL ROAD, BANKSTOWN.

GLENMORE ROAD.
3 ALLOTMENTS OF LAND, having each 27 feet frontage to GLENMORE ROAD, by a depth of 165 feet, to a right of way 13 FEET wide.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, 175, Pitt-street, at 11 o'clock,
TUESDAY, 12th JUNE,
The above described allotments of land.
Plan on view at the Rooms.
 This block, being a portion of the well-known Macdonald Estate, and commanding good harbour views, is well worthy the attention of any one in search of a good building position. It is close to the improved properties of J. HOLDSWORTH and T. DINGLE, Esqs., and near to the junction of LIVERPOOL-STREET and GLENMORE ROAD, and is the only available frontage in this locality.

BARCOO AND THOMSON RIVERS, QUEENSLAND.

MORT and CO. have received instructions to offer for sale by auction, at their Wool warehouses, Circular Quay, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 12th June next, at 2 o'clock p.m. (AND THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PUBLIC IS INVITED TO THE FACT THAT THE PROPERTIES WILL BE SOLD TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER),
Those truly magnificent runs known as MOUNT ENNISKILLEN and BIRKHEAD and VERGEMONT.
MOUNT ENNISKILLEN and BIRKHEAD, with 8500, more or less WELL AND CAREFULLY BRED CATTLE.
These runs, containing an area of 940 SQUARE MILES, have 40 MILES FRONTAGE TO BOTH SIDES OF THE MAIN HEAD OF THE BARCOO RIVER, besides numerous tributary creeks flowing through the back country, all of which are well watered, together with permanent dams and NEVER-FAILING WELLS OF GOOD WATER, and adjoin the well-known first-class Tambo, Greendale, and Northampton Downs runs.
BIRKHEAD is admirably suited for working weaners or for fattening cattle, apart from Mount Enniskillen.
THE CATTLE are a well-known first-class herd, of which not less than 600 ARE FAT and ready for market. Their original quality being kept up by a succession of bulls from the herds of John Lee, William Henry Suttor, J. W. Chisholm, and Walter Douglass of Inveralochy, at great expense.
The improvements on MOUNT ENNISKILLEN are good Homestead, viz. :—House, kitchen, store, meat and tool house; blacksmith's shop, men's and shearer's huts, &c.; large horse paddocks, cattle drafting yards; large wool shed, with wool store apart from shed, shingled and floored; rack and pinion wool-press, and dumping-press; extensive sheep-washing plant, fixed on permanent lagoon half-mile long, consisting of 12 horse-power steam-engine, centrifugal pump, iron soak tanks, spouting tank, with 6 spouts, washers' huts, &c., &c., all in good working order. Also two large newly erected tailing-yards, each a quarter of a mile square.
At BIRKHEAD are house, kitchen, horse yard, milking yard, strong and large frame of building for wool shed, and 3 paddocks, suitable for horses or cattle, of wire and posts and rails, containing an area of about 4000 ACRES of THICKLY-GRASSED LAND.

VERGEMONT, with 1050 CATTLE, more or less.
Has an area of 1105 SQUARE miles, embracing both sides of the VERGEMONT RIVER, a distance of 60 miles, besides tributary creeks. The country consists of extensive undulating downs, salt-bush, and thickly grassed flats, unsurpassed for fattening stock. The water during drought has been abundant and good, and can be relied upon to last through any drought.
This run is well suited for fencing at a small cost, owing to its natural boundaries, and adjoins those magnificent runs held by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Kelman, Tozer, and Bell and Dutton. It was the first run taken up in that locality.
Improvements consist of stockman's hut, and well-built stockyard, capable of working 7000 cattle for twenty years to come.
SPECIAL ATTENTION is directed to the large grazing capacity of this run, compared with the few cattle offered for sale with it. These cattle consist of about 700 good young breeding cows and heifers, 275 heifers and steers, and 7? steers, heifers, and calves, under twelve months old, and have the same quality and careful breeding attaching to the Mount Enniskillen herd.

THE HORSES, which are remarkably well-bred, working bullocks, stores, wire, implements, &c., to be taken by the purchaser at a valuation.
TERMS:—One third cash; balance at one, two, and three years, with interest at 7 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly.
CHARTS of the Country can be seen, and further particulars obtained, on application to MORT and CO., Circular Quay, Sydney.

BY ORDER OF THE TRUSTEES OF MRS. R. M. TEMPLAR.

TO GRAZIERS, AGRICULTURISTS, CATTLE BREEDERS, FARMERS, and OTHERS.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT and ATTRACTIVE LAND SALE, to be held at the ROYAL HOTEL,
in the TOWNSHIP OF ORANGE,
the present Terminus of the GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.

The well-known
NARRAMBLA ESTATE,
1920 ACRES near the TOWNSHIP of ORANGE, adjoining the valuable Estates belonging to Messrs. M'Phillamy, Dalton, Dale, and others.

In Lots to suit Purchasers.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions, to sell by public auction, at the Royal Hotel, Orange, on TUESDAY, 26th June, at 12 o'clock,
THE NARRAMBLA ESTATE, comprising in all 1920 acres, the greater portion of which is VERY RICH AGRICULTURAL LAND, near the town of ORANGE.
The MAIN OPHIR ROAD, 2½ miles from ORANGE, passed through the ESTATE on the eastern end, upon the portion known as THE HOMESTEAD and MILL SITE.

This very valuable and delightfully situated extensive
COUNTRY ESTATE
will be submitted to public competition in TWENTY-FOUR CHOICE FARMS, ranging from 35 acres to 666 acres in extent, each having ROAD FRONTAGE
and an abundant supply of water.
The district around ORANGE is acknowledged by those who are competent to form an opinion, to be the healthiest in all the COUNTY OF BATHURST, owing to its great altitude, being upwards of 2850 FEET
above the sea.
The NARRAMBLA Estate comprises some of the RICHEST AGRICULTURAL LAND that is to be found in the county; and, from its close proximity to the TOWNSHIP, a ready market is found for all produce raised thereon.
The COUNTY of BATHURST, especially that portion near Orange, is celebrated for its enormous wheat-growing capabilities, evidenced by the fact that in the township are now in full work night and day.
THREE MILLS
On No 24 Farm of the Estate, 666 acres, known formerly as the homestead, is A MOST substantially-erected and very commodious building, known as
which at a moderate outlay for machinery, &c., could be brought into full working order; and, from the enormous quantity of GRAIN produced in the district, the mill would be a great source of income to the fortunate purchaser.
☞ The subdivision has been made with very good judgment and great care by Mr. SURVEYOR BISHOP, dividing the estate in such a manner that each farm is easy of access from the MAIN ROADS, and another great recommendation to the subdivision is that it is so arranged that a purchaser by taking consecutive lots (which will be allowed on day of sale) can secure any area he may desire at the price for which the first lot may be knocked down.
A large portion of the estate is cleared and now ready for the plough, so that purchasers after the sale can at once proceed and sow their grain, thereby having the great advantage of obtaining a return from the several farms in a very short time.
LITHOGRAPHS are now in course of preparation and will be ready for distribution in a few days, at our Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, and also at the ROYAL HOTEL, ORANGE.
Terms, one-fourth cash, residue on completion; or at the option of the purchaser, in equal amounts, at 6, 12, 18, and 24 months, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.
Messrs. DAINTREY and CHAPMAN, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, Solicitors of the TRUST.

SCARBOROUGH.

LADY ROBINSON'S BEACH.

The following are the only remaining LOTS now for SALE:—
NORTH SCARBOROUGH.
Nos. 3 to 14, and 21 to 2?, of section 5—18 lots.

TERMS OF PAYMENT exceedingly liberal; one-fourth cash; residue in equal amounts at 1, 2, and 3 years, WITHOUT INTEREST.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH,
142, Pitt-street.

 The WHOLE of SOUTH SCARBOROUGH is SOLD.

BY ORDER of the EXECUTORS of the LATE JOHN SOLOMON, Esq.

GOOD CITY RESIDENCE.

THAT CONVENIENT and CENTRALLY SITUATED FAMILY DWELLING-HOUSE, No. 48, ELIZABETH-STREET NORTH, opposite the RESERVE, in front of the AUSTRALIAN CLUB, and adjoining the property belonging to J. G. RAPHAEL, Esq.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 1st June, at 11 o'clock,
ALL THAT piece of land, being lot 13 of the subdivision of the CITY CORPORATION ALLOTMENTS, having 26 FEET 8 INCHES frontage to ELIZABETH-STREET NORTH, with a depth of 78 feet, extending to lane 20 feet wide, upon which is No. 48, ELIZABETH-STREET, a most faithfully-built brick FAMILY RESIDENCE, on MASSIVE STONE foundation and basement, and finished throughout in good style.
It has verandah and balcony in front and rear, and contains wide entrance hall, seven large rooms, dressing and bath rooms, besides kitchen, laundry, pantries, and cellar in basement; wood and coal shed, good yard, walled in, &c., at rear.

☞ The above described family house is well worthy of attention, being in the very business centre of the city, it is in every respect admirably adapted as a residence for a PROFESSIONAL GENTLEMAN, as well as for those whose BUSINESS engagements necessitate them to be, as it were, on the spot at all times.
The position is first-class, being one of the main thoroughfares of our city, leading to the Circular Quay, stores, and shipping, and only two minutes' walk from the busiest parts of GEORGE and PITT STREETS.
Cards to view may be obtained at the Rooms.
Terms at sale.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

ST. LEONARDS.
FOUR CHOICE BUILDING SITES, MILLER-STREET, opposite the PUBLIC RECREATION GROUNDS, in the very centre of the town.

BRIGHTON, MANLY BEACH.
BLOCK of LAND, 5 acres 3 roods 12½ perches, on the heights adjoining the western boundary of Brighton, and about 10 minutes' walk from the PIER at MANLY.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 1st June, at 11 o'clock,

ST. LEONARDS,
FOUR BEAUTIFULLY SITUATED SITES, each having 41½ feet frontage to Miller-street, with a depth of 132 feet.
These building allotments are worthy of attention, the position is without doubt the most attractive in the township, having the advantage of the public reserve of 40 acres in front, thereby securing an uninterrupted cheerful prospect eastward all over the reserve and the surrounding pretty scenery.

BRIGHTON, MANLY.
The eastern half of Messrs. HOLLINGWORTH and LENNON'S GRANT of 11 acres 2 roods 25½ perches, on the MAIN ROAD from BRIGHTON to the SPIT FERRY, and only 10 minutes' walk from the PIER.
It is next to the property belonging to GEORGE THORNTON, Esq. (which was known formerly as PHENNA'S GRANT), and from its close proximity to the wharf at Manly the land is favourably situated for subdivision.
It will be offered in one lot.

Plans on view at the Rooms. Terms at sale.

ON THE GROUND,
SATURDAY, 2nd JUNE.

ASHFIELD NORTH.
TWENTY-ONE CHOICE BUILDING SITES, at the junction of ALT and JOHN STREETS, within 5 minutes' walk of the ASHFIELD RAILWAY STATION, being a subdivision of the wellknown improved grounds belonging to Mr. JOHN MILLS, immediately opposite the property of Mr. ALDERMAN MUIR, and in one of the most popular parts of the beautiful and charming
RAILWAY SUBURB
of ASHFIELD.
The sites vary in dimensions having from 35 FEET to 50 FEET frontages, with depths ranging from 100 FEET to 130 FEET, with the great advantage of being in the MAIN LEADING THOROUGHFARES of the Borough, viz.:—
ALT-STREET,
JOHN-STREET,
and a new roadway opened up through the property named
MARGARET-STREET.

☞ These Building Allotments of Land adjoin the ALBERT-PARADE, and are well worthy of attention by those desirous of securing a plot of land upon which to erect a PERMANENT ABODE or for
SPECULATORS and INVESTORS
wishing to place their ready money in a legitimate and safe channel, which will in a short time give a PROFITABLE RETURN.
It is with difficulty now that desirably situated
BUILDING SITES
can be obtained in this most HEALTHY and deservedly eulogised
RAILWAY SUBURB.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. John Mills to sell by public auction, on the GROUND, on SATURDAY, 2nd June, at 3 o'clock,
The above described building allotments of land at Ashfield.

They have all been pegged out by Mr. SURVEYOR REUSS, Jun.; therefore, intending purchasers will have no difficulty in identifying the several lots upon the ground.
LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS now obtainable at the Rooms.

CROSS-STREET, SEVEN ALLOTMENTS, each 30 FEET to CROSS-STREET, with a depth of 106 FEET to a lane 20 feet wide.

☞ Special attention is directed to this sale of the only BLOCK of FREEHOLD LAND in DOUBLE BAY, now in the market for public auction.
It is situated in the best position in the beautiful and most fashionable suburb of DOUBLE BAY, divided from its placid waters only by the BEAUTIFUL PUBLIC RESERVE, thereby securing to the sites an uninterrupted, extensive, and charming view of the whole of the BAY, extending northward over the harbour to BRIGHTON and the HEADS, whilst to the west, south, and east, on the heights, are a number of CASTELLATED and ELEGANT MANSIONS, with their well-laid-out and BEAUTIFULLY-TERRACED EXTENSIVE GROUNDS, comprising GREENOAKES, MOUNT ADELAIDE, GLENROCK, BROOKSLY, GLENYARRAH, and many others; the whole forming one grand picture upon which the eye never tires to dwell.
The city water is laid on, and passes the property; also the gas.
Intending purchasers are particularly requested to inspect the several sites prior to day of sale.
Auction Plan now on view at the Rooms; and LITHOGRAPHS will be ready for distribution in a few days.
FREE OMNIBUS will leave the Rooms of the Auctioneers at half-past 2 o'clock on day of sale.

TO MASTER BRICKMAKERS, BUILDERS, AND OTHERS.

IMPORTANT SALE
of the
STEAM PLASTIC BRICK COMPANY'S WORKS, PLANT, MACHINERY, KILNS, Horses, Drays, Burned and Green Bricks on hand, Drying Sheds, &c.; together with the Goodwill of the business, the Book Debts, and the LEASE of LAND for clay rights, situated at ASHFIELD.
The LAND comprises 5 ACRES, and was selected from a large area as the best from which to obtain most suitable clay for brickmaking.
It is held on lease for 10 years from 24th July, 1876.
The STEAM PLASTIC BRICK COMPANY is in full work and the bricks supplied to various large contractors for CITY BUSINESS PREMISES and
SUBURBAN RESIDENCES have in each case given satisfaction, and numerous have been the testimonies that the productions from the STEAM PLASTIC BRICK WORKS
have been equal and in many cases superior to other bricks sent to the Sydney market.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 1st June, at 11 o'clock,
The residue of the lease of 5 acres of land, upon which is the most complete
BRICK MAKING ESTABLISHMENT in and around the popular RAILWAY SUBURB of ASHFIELD, where building is now carried on to a very large extent, thereby giving a market on the spot without the expense of long cartage for the disposal of the whole of the bricks made at the STEAM PLASTIC COMPANY'S WORKS.

An inventory of the whole of the plant, machinery, tools, &c., may be inspected at the Rooms.

Terms at sale.

On SATURDAY, 2nd June.

LIVERPOOL ROAD, ASHFIELD.

RAILWAY STATION,
having the following frontages:—
80½ FEET to LIVERPOOL ROAD
250 FEET to CANTERBURY ROAD,
the latter being the MAIN STREET through ASHFIELD SOUTH.
☞ This block of land, from its eligible position on the MAIN ROAD of the BOROUGH, can be specially recommended to those in search of centrally situated BUSINESS POSITIONS
in this very populous and favourite
RAILWAY SUBURB.
It is immediately opposite the ASHFIELD HOTEL, and as a site for the same CLASS of BUSINESS PREMISES, SHOPS, or PRIVATE RESIDENCES cannot be excelled by any other on the LIVERPOOL ROAD.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, on the Ground, on SATURDAY, 2nd June, at 4 o'clock,
The above-described block of land, at Ashfield.
It will be offered in one or three lots, to suit purchasers.

HANDSOME CITY MANSION,
No. 167, MACQUARIE-STREET NORTH,
overlooking the Domain and Harbour.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from F. T. HUMPHERY, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 1st JUNE, at 11 o'clock, MACQUARIE-STREET NORTH.
All that block of land, being allotment No. 18, section 107, city plan, having a frontage of 30 FEET TO THE BUILDING LINE OF MACQUARIE-STREET NORTH, with a depth of 104 feet, extending to a lane at the rear, on which is the
HANDSOME COMMODIOUS CITY MANSION,
No. 167, MACQUARIE-STREET NORTH,
opposite THE DOMAIN, Containing—
ON THE GROUND FLOOR, wide hall, dining room divided by folding doors; breakfast-room, pantry, &c.
ON THE FIRST FLOOR.—Drawing-room, 2 large bedrooms, dressing-room, bathroom, &c.
ON THE SECOND FLOOR—3 bedrooms, dressing-room, and closet.
IN THE BASEMENT, on a level and opening on to a paved yard at the rear, are large kitchen with superior range, laundry, servant's bedroom, store-room, wine cellar, &c.

 This magnificent city mansion is massively built of stone, and both as regards style and finish cannot be surpassed in the city. In the front and rear are verandahs and balconies, the former being divided from the street boundary by a garden plot and dwarf stone wall and iron palisade. Gas and water by iron pipes laid on over the house.
The elevated and convenient position is well known, and the extensive beautiful views over the Domain and the harbour are acknowledged as unequalled by any other site, whether in the city or suburbs.
Very rarely can a property in this choice position be obtained, and the special attention of capitalists is directed to the favourable opportunity for securing either a permanent city investment or a superior commodious family mansion. CARDS to view at the Rooms.
Terms liberal.

HORSE-SHOEING MATCH. FAIR PLAY. FAIR PLAY. FAIR PLAY.

A Match came off on Saturday last between A. DOWNIE, of Castlereagh-street, and J. BASTARD, of Balmain—the former competitor being the winner of the Exhibition Silver Cup. The latter competitor being dissatisfied with the decision thereon accorded forthwith challenged A. DOWNIE for twenty-five pounds a-side, each competitor to shoe the same horses and under the same conditions as the Exhibition Shoeing Match. Three competent judges from the country, mutually agreed to by the two competitors, unanimously declared J. BASTARD the winner, his workmanship being perfection itself.
